Note: I have not edited this very much because it would take forever. Instead shows the hundreds of transcription errors made by series Siri's (Apple's)voice wreck-ognition/AI, and increasingly using the "strikethrough" format feature on voice-wreck mistakes stead of correcting them because they seem "interesting" at times . Additionally, will not be editing for smooth reading, correct grammar etc. cause it takes too much time. For now on, It's gonna be even more awkward reading but who cares . "It was the garden of eden; the beginning of time
Adam said to Eve, "Little girl, I want to make you mine!"
She said, "Wait a minute, big boy, not so fast!
I want to think this over; I want to love that's gonna last!"
Eve said to Adam, "Catch me if you can!"
It's been the same ol' story ever since the world began"… John Cafferty

Not enough Calcium and your bones break, too much and your arteries clog… natures way of moving things along?

If I understand correctly, George Washington "did" some atrocious things to the Native Americans. The Natives fought back, reportedly scalping and mutilating settlers, who were moving uninvited into their land... reportedly Americans scalped and mutilated too. I've heard that some "Indian" tribes and nations didn't get along and they fought each other. The Americas apparently weren't a Garden of Eden. That doesn't make what the Americans did OK but it's a warning to people everywhere, that fragmented, technologically societies had better watch out... when greed and "need" intersect, violence is often the result.

"I was born four miles below where Rapid City now is, in 1852, about full moon in March. "My father was Black Fox and my mother's name was Iron Cedarwoman. "My father was a chief. In a fight with the Crows he was shot below the right eye with an arrow; it was so deep that it could not be pulled out, but had to be pushed through to the ear. "My tribe was the Ogalalla clan. Our family roamed on hunts for game and enemies all about through the country and to Canada. My father died when he was eighty years old. He had two wives and they were sisters. My mother was the youngest and had five children. The other wife had eight children, making thirteen in all. Kicking Bear was my full brother, and Chief Black Fox was my half brother and was named for our father. "When ten years old I was in my first battle on the Tongue River—Montana now. It was an Overland Train of covered wagons who had soldiers with them. The way it was started, the soldiers fired on the Indians, our tribe, only a few of us. We went to our friends and told them we had been fired on by the soldiers, and they surrounded the train and we had a fight with them. I do not know how many we killed of the soldiers, but they killed four of us. "After that we had a good many battles, but I did not take any scalps for a good while. I cannot tell how many I killed when a young man. "When I was twenty years old we went to the Crows and stole a lot of horses. The Crows discovered us and followed us all night. When daylight came we saw them behind us. I was the leader. We turned back to fight the Crows. I killed one and took his scalp and a field glass and a Crow necklace from him. We chased the others back a long way and then caught up with our own men again and went on. It was a very cold winter. There were twenty of us and each had four horses. We got them home all right and it was a good trip that time. We had a scalp dance when we got back. "We soon moved camp. One night the Piegans came and killed one of our people. We trailed them in the snow all night. At dawn we came up to them. One Piegan stopped. The others went on. We surrounded the one. He was a brave man. I started for him. He raised his gun to shoot when I was twenty feet away. I dropped to the ground and his bullet went over me; then I jumped on him and cut him through below the ribs and scalped him. We tied the scalp to a long pole. The women blacked their faces and we had a big dance over it. "The next day I started out again with some men and we ran into a Crow camp. We got into that camp by moonlight, but we got caught. They started to fire on us. We all ran into a deep gulch. We got out, but when it was day we saw them coming with a herd 'of horses, going back to the Crow camp. We got in front of them and hid in a hollow. When I looked out I saw they had Sioux horses which they had stolen from our camp. "A big Crow was ahead and the others were riding behind. I took a good aim at the big Crow and shot him in the chest. The rest of them left the horses and ran away. The big Crow was still living. I took another shot at him, then I took his scalp. We took all the horses they had stolen. There were sixty-nine head that time. "Some time after we went to hunt buffalo. All the men went on this hunt. While we were butchering the kill some Piegans were coming. We went to meet them and had a fight. Some missed their 'horses and were running on foot. I was on a good fast horse. I ran over one and knocked him down and fell on him and scalped him alive (ugh). Another one of my people was close by and he shot the one I scalped. This fight was below where Fort Peck is. "More Piegans came. More of them than us. We were attacked by the Piegans. I kneeled down beside a sage bush. A Piegan shot at me but missed. I shot at him and hit his horse. It went down. Then I turned back and ran into a Piegan. Four of them were butchering buffaloes. I shot at them but missed. The Piegans ran and left their horses, and I took them all. We killed three of the Piegans. They shot one of our horses through the head. The fight was over and the Piegans went to a hill. "On the way back we ran into a lot of Crows and we had a fight on horseback. We chased them but no one was killed"...Flying Hawk "Native American Culture"~ Facebook

Be it Israel America, or any place else, unfortunately might makes right. I wouldn't expect anyone to voluntarily return lands, except for "peace", or under duress. In the case of America we made terrible mistakes, but the fragmented tribes and nation of indigenous people did too, primarily in being weak and virtually in the Stone Age, and secondly, in their scalping other cruelties, which, unfortunately, were matched by the Americans.

Seems to me you're not interested in an egalitarian society, you're simply interested in a matriarchal society and you're not interested in peace any more than the guy hawks. Just look at; Nuland, Meir, Thatcher, etc. you vote for war and send working class boys and girls to their deaths. The battle of the sexes, like the battle of the races and religions rages on and we should respond because you take no prisoners and give no quarter… unfortunately we are no better.

A "natural" dichotomy resulting in the battle of the sexes is, who controls the next generation? The ladies want to, and so do the men. Men generally want to continue their bloodline. IMO women don't care about continuing their man's bloodline, they're invested in the success of their children and that means finding the strongest possible male 'donor.' In a matriarchal society, the pool of male-genes may be larger and the bloodline perhaps subject to greater evolution than in the patriarchy. This because the male is more likely to look for a mate, similar to himself, the female may do the opposite.

Interestingly, if you compare words etched onto stone monuments in Egypt, to words written on papyrus, goatskin etc, from the Holy land, the latter have lasted as long and had a much greater impact on humanity.

On Kitco I've watched the first five minutes and 40 seconds of, "Global financial crisis 2.0: Black Swan Event Coming, What yield", with the lovely Michelle Makori, and George Gammon the founder of REBEL CAPITALIST.Gammon uses Paul Tudor Jones as an example of a billionaire, taking advantage of insider information very early in the Covid pandemic to make huge profits. The tailgater in the Toyota finally moved to the right but I had only momentary relief because she was being tailgated by a Beamer who’s now on my tail… It's good to cut someone slack if they're tailgating you while being tailgated themselves, don't wish them ill but don’t let it affect your driving or overall safety negatively either. In this case, it's rush-hour and both ladies may be under stress. “Stereotypically”, lady number one might be rushing her baby to childcare and the Beamer gal rushing to her high-powered job… of course I'm probably wrong on both counts. Although I have a marketing plan, the main reason for writing this is therapeutic… well, one of the main reasons.

Who do you trust more? Doctors or financial planners? I’d say doctors, but not by as much as I'd like. The people I trust the least are tech gurus and billionaire elitists, who’re often the same. Take Apple for example, why is it that every time I send a text it appears on my screen twice…are they trying to make me want a new phone? Guess their trillion dollar market cap isn't enough.

Doing a little better bout not rushing round at home… driving still needs improvement.

Talking bout Afghanistan on the two year anniversary of America's "exit" from Bagram Airbase, and interviewing Peter Bergen, who they describe on PBS as VP of the left leaning

New America Think Tank. All over there’re groups, vying for influence, power and contro… how many are puppets for somebody higher up the chain of command?

Bergen said that the only thing women were allowed to do in Kabul after the Taliban took over it was clean lady's toilet. I don't know if that's true, but anyway, I think woke is better than Taliban, but we shouldn't settle for either.

Regarding the Sinus post, Jerry would understand… remember what he said about Moses wandering in the desert?

~~An alternative marketing plan would be to send proof copies of all my journals to agents. Heck, I've got a lot of them.~~

Another thing about driver psychology you can get an idea about somebody's personality. Of course, some people just can't stand being number two they've got to race.

When you're interviewing someone, and ask how much they want, you're providing a “two birds with one stone” lesson. First the employer is unlikely to offer more than they ask for, so start high, and number two either party can counter but he who speaks first is disadvantaged.

More driver psychology I stop at the red light and if I'm a little behind the car next to me, they can get nervous because they can't see me but if I'm a little in front they can get anxious because they don't want me to get ahead of them and vice versa.

God forbid that war is another way of "moving things along", aka out with the old. I don't think it is, because those who fight and die are mostly the young. If old people did the fighting it'd be more plausible but still tragic. If the trillions spent on war was redirected towards medical research etc. we'd be so much better off… but would that mean an unsustainable population increase - I doubt it.

Just a bit leery of anything Constantine then or now had anything to do with… maybe the old one's overt violence was somehow "justified", and maybe the new one's (Zuck) shenanigans are too but I'm skeptical.

You might say George Washington and the founding fathers were clueless, because communication was slow, and they didn't know about the rest of the world. I'd say they knew more than most people today about the rest of the world. It took weeks or months to get information instead of a few seconds, like today but they got it and that extra time to process it was useful. They weren't compelled to react instantly like we're encouraged to. They also knew about; China, Russia, the Middle East and Africa… in fact America had relations with them all… some good, some bad. For example, Jefferson as president sent war ships to deal with the Barbary pirates from Muslim North Africa, and there are many other examples of cross-cultural contacts.

"Well, there are all manner of lesser imps and demons, Pete, but the great Satan his self is red and scaly with a bifurcated tail, and he carries a hay fork”… Ulysses Everett McGill (O Brother, Where Art Thou?) Is there a literal devil with a bifurcated tail etc.? I keep hearing people talking about it. Growing up in New Jersey amongst fairly liberal Christians, Catholics and Jews, it wasn’t a topic of conversation.

Here's an example of the devil being in the details, silverware likes to go down the garbage disposer. Is it that or a design flaw, cause if you want water to go down the drain, you need the sink to taper. Here's another, trying to pull two nitrile gloves out of the box I usually get a bunch of them stuck together.

People, fat and skinny fly past on the trail and my wife’s usually 100 yards ahead of me…riding at the speed of Sardinian goat herder. (The Blue Zone.)

“Woke up this mornin' with the sundown shinin' in,
I found my mind in a brown paper bag within
I tripped on a cloud and fell-a eight miles high
I tore my mind on a jagged sky
I just dropped in to see what condition my condition was in
… I pushed my soul in a deep dark hole and then i followed it in
I watched myself crawlin' out as i was a-crawlin in”… Mickey Newberry, (Kenny Rogers) slab

Does it take two to tango and two to tangle and is talking the route and fighting a rout?

My Wife left for the gym and I turn off the Living Room lights. She likes it for her disposition and I like it so I don't trip oer things.

I think about one percent of what I write it is it is very good I've probably written 10,000 pages so that makes 10 pages that are very good except I'm probably saying the same thing over and over again, bringing it down a bit.

As the political season heats up, and the primaries are set to begin nationally and locally, it appears the ads feature people who think they've a powerful enough clique to do what they want and get their way. They'll do what's best for them and what they think is best for the rest of us.

Will we be the hammer of God, bystanders or a burnt offering?

When you guarantee something to another country like their security, isn't that a permanent alliance?

If you guarantee, universal suffrage, you'd better also guarantee a mechanism to protect the constitution. Otherwise it's likely to be degraded.

The second Lincoln's shorter but just as dangerous…

Breakfast at eight and last snack at eight… try water when hungry, if that doesn't work try mouthwash, or cucumbers, eating a little less, a little slower etc.

If one calls you an infidel and the other calls you cattle is there much difference?

"Every Man in this World has Two Ways before him, That is to say, first, The Way of Liberty, that's Narrow and Rugged at the Entrance, but plainer and Smoother the further you go. Secondly, The Way of Servitude or Slavery, that seems to be Easy at first, but you'll find it afterwards to be full of Intolerable Difficulties"… Aesop

"The Indians, Brazil, South Africa, China, know about diplomacy they're experts, they know their brief, and they know the other side's…I've never seen such ignorance in Washington, London and Brussels. If you don't do the other side, you just do a regime change operation - that's the opposite of diplomacy"… Jeffrey Sachs (paraphrased.)

Does Aesop contradict Jesus with the grasshopper and the ant story?

Driving my Jeep with its "safe technology" package, aka blindside protection, collision avoidance, etc., I felt pretty good but this week locally, a couple were run over on their golf cart, a garbage truck crushed someone and a spare fell off a pickup and killed a woman… there're still lots of unknown, unknowns.

The car in front of me is going slow. I'm too close to him and he slows down further, so I'm probably annoying him. The last thing I want is road-rage him, so I slow down a little bit… maybe he's feeling nice cause suddenly he speeds up.

Favorite living drummer this morning's Anton Fig aka the Thunder from Down Under playing "This Train", he's right up there with Bonzo, Peart and Michael Lee.

Another real close tailgater and we'd like to teach him a lesson, but sometimes people are in a hurry for a good reason, though I doubt it based on this guy's car. I change lanes cause as they say, it's not worth the powder, or that's a mighty small hill to die on… % Indy's #1 in road rage this year.

Some people are just assholes, just showing off or just got a fast new car and think 465's the Indy 500.

Is the country more likely to be successful in times of crisis if it is united by ideology like we supposedly are or by ethnicity like some countries?

Watching the evening news on the three major networks they've come a long way from 70 years ago when they got started now. They've figured out how to trap us with their ads with are mostly for the pharmaceutical companies. It's a combination of drama, suspense, and everything else we were warned about when in 1961, Norman Minow said TV's a vast wasteland. It is designed now for control and it's ushering the worst aspects of AI, which apparently many are anxious to embrace.

All three ‘major networks’ have the same advertisements, same news and same owners… both the ads and the news are designed to; scare, titillate and ultimately bring us around to their values… enriching them and impoverishing us in the process, especially if we resist. In case you can't watch the CBS evening news, it streams all day long on Youtube etc.

If all three networks have the same commercials and the same news, might it mean a small group’s strongly influencing or in charge of things? % The folks who brought us Covid and the wars in Ukraine and Gaza.

Predictably after all the gloom, doom and destruction news, the evening news finishes with a feel-good story. I’d give them credit for it if I trusted their motives ...

They say if you don’t like it, “turn it off”, and I usually do but today I'm watching and what comes after the evening news is BBC propaganda on PBS… it’ the same folks the Z’s and Chinese.

Another observation, interesting or not is now even PBS hires babes to anchor and present the news. Gone are the stodgy men and ladies of the past.

Their open border policy may drastically change America’s demographics and make it even easier for them to determine and implement “what's best for us”… we are sheep following a bad shepherd.
And example of being dumb down shoplifting make it closes its flag ship store in Portland. Target is the number one target of shoplifting and we're told Well it's a victimless crime and it's not even prosecute anymore in San Francisco if it's under $1000 because our leaders tell us that it's OK. We follow like sheep, but we shouldn't.

The tried-and-true method is slick talk, preferably from slick, looking people, pretty girls, handsome men and then she will follow. Just tell them they should.
We are at odds, so why should we hang out together? Well, maybe so we can reconcile and live in peace. On the other hand we might kill each other so it's debatable.
Unless we're daft, we realize they get us via skinny jeans, spanks, and make up…but they get us!
The Ukraine war is a conflict between two very bad actors, Russia and the globalist in the west and the Ukrainian people. Are the ones dying because they have been.

I press a button trying to get back to that newscast, but I've hit the wrong one and it goes to Jimmy Lee Swaggart along with Coleman, Larson Bromley, singing Farther Along what a song we'll understand it farther along
I choose the black socks instead of the black ones with the red stripe on the toe. I mean the gray heel because the black with the red stripe are a little bigger a little bit more comfortable. I'd like to google next time before I buy so I get those or at least get the ones that are a little roomier but then I have to wonder are they made in China or the USA?
It gets complicated because it could be made in Vietnam, Mexico, Pakistan or Uganda

Why pee outside? There’s no splash, saves water, electricity… and my back. Et vous?
Like to pee on the English Ivy…nothing against the English, just the ivy.

There's a little water left in the watering bucket I poured it where I pee, cause if I can smell it, everyone else can too.

Been watering this witch hazel plant for months, even though it might be dead… will find out next spring.

It's likely that the friends we will be cruising with our idea, longs or at least one of them is so it makes no sense to engage because I must remember that everything I say can be used against me no reason to explain things no certainly no reason to argue, and certainly should keep things close to the best in a polite and civil manner, and hope things work out

One or both of them I think believe that they're number one they're people are better better off, superior, historically, etc. more intelligent and should be imposing their will on the rest of the world because of that I just get that feeling certainly not an argument or debate I want to engage in
In my limited interactions with them so far, I get the idea that they are part of the we're number one crowd and that's scary

If you say, that would be good, I would say then go right ahead I'll keep mine as much as possible between me, and the man upstairs already knows them
He can use them against me if he wants the rest probably would.

Regarding the cruise with our friends, I'm torn between listening to the advice of the man who said, keep your opinions to yourself, and pouring out my inner most thoughts, I lean towards the former, but would love to do the latter.

And I am as unlikely to convince you of my views as you are to convince me of yours
What is I said we have occupied; government, media, legal, educational and financial systems? Most would be critical and skeptical so why open my mouth?

It is a cheap way to weaken Russia the Neocons say, perhaps glossing over the deaths of Ukrainian soldiers and civilians. So we get rid of our old weapons, test new ones and keep our own “cannon fodder” ready for the future. How crazy and sick is that? Some might call it logical or wise… I don't.

Going over the events of the morning, which involves a birthday and two condolence cards I’m thinking and then listening to Rocky Mountain High, and then Jesus hold my hand Jerry Lee give me a think about the words, humble or humility and hypocrisy. They both start with H. They’re both difficult they’re both pervasive and they’re both likely to be called out. Thank you Lord that the P cup didn't spill Subdue the Earth is in the Bible, and like “be fruitful and multiply”, I can relate to it. The former doesn’t mean cruelly and with disrespect… me thinks it means the opposite.

A fine line?
Twice!
I asked Jesus to be my savior, was baptized, pray to him, and believe he rose from the dead and ascended to heaven.
Won’t say the “rest’s” a tempest in a teapot but think it’s overrated.
Nothing wrong with that.
Look at the thing you're gonna be sitting on all the way down to when you make contact with it and when you lift her leg that is sore and hip etc. keep a hand next to it not necessarily to aided physically but to be there just in case in both cases, you may avoid injury, pulled muscles, etc.
When it comes to certain matters, sometimes the only way to vote is with one's feet
But what I don’t understand is the misery that so many people go through the fatal accidents, the wars, the disease, etc. maybe it’s like we’re only bugs not sparrows but bugs and just as we treat lesser beings like bugs maybe God does too… it's a paradox I don't understand. It's a paradox that a loving, all powerful God lets this happen. It leads some to disbelief or atheism…

"We'll understand it all bye and bye"… will we?
In the Ukraine war, the side that is losing lies more but both sides lie. I suppose that's common in any armed conflict. The I formation war is important in order to keep morale up of the troops, the population and the financiers, while simultaneously trying to demoralized the other side, and influence neutral parties to back you as the supposed good guys and eventual winner.

There are quotes that address this such as "the truth is the first casualty of war" Aeschylus?

"In wartime, truth is so precious that she should always be attended by a bodyguard of lies”… Winston Churchill

There are things I can fix, and things I can, but absent my tools it's hopeless
Certain pieces of good advice should just be followed and not proclaimed such as keep my mouth shut there's no reason to pontificate it will just bite me in the arse
Somebody's clicking on this stuff I don't know who they are but everything can be used against one
As far as the UK and USA, in prophecy and China being good, bad or indifferent, I've got opinions and I should keep them to myself. I should keep things simple. George Washington said, avoid foreign conflict and permanent alliances, especially in Europe. That's good enough for me. Passing the blind spot that I've warned them about makes me think about war and the misery that could be prevented. If the trillions spent on it where is spent on more important things like alleviating human suffering. I'm not saying, feeding every lazy bum out there I'm saying, alleviating misery for everyone.

On the box urgent, followed by a man in the box
Human misery being alleviated by everything from safer cars to better medical treatments, but not necessarily helping those who won't help themselves
I think Layne Staley can yell with the best of them, including plant call Tree and what's that guy from the firm Paul Rogers. And of course Cornell and fetter
I can sing, or I hear you I think that covers me being polite and not necessarily agreeing
I think they're a bill curves for why men and women are attracted to each other for us. It's Physical parent sex company cooking, blah blah for them. It's something different I would guess me that security and Company are too as well as financial support but all of these are bell curve that apply to both sexes the differently.

The great religions have gotten more peaceful overtime and eventually there might really be a religion of peace, but it would just be attacked wouldn't it?
I am not going to do long walks, bike rides, hikes, etc. I'm gonna do a little bit of weight training and my normal activities and try to improve my diet. Maybe try tai chi again but I doubt it.

In the blue zone, they don't do those long walks bike rides, etc. and my dad and mom didn't have the joint pain that is almost debilitating to me at the age ripe old age of 67

Paraphrasing with the mountain man said, “got me a full-time woman”, fooling with what Fleetwood Jack said, “women they won't come and they won't go.”

George, Washington, Ben Franklin, Thomas Jefferson, John Adams, Sam Adams, Patrick Henry, Thomas Paine versus; A. Blinken, Biden Sullivan, Austin, Miley, Newland, Keegan, Rebbe, Notayahoo etc.
Council of Nicaea nag Hammadi library, the Escenes, the Dead Sea Scrolls, the Talmud (boiled in his own, asked her meant?)… who allegedly said “we control America”, George Washington’s farewell address, the emperor Constantine, and on, and on it goes.

Mr. Lincoln's war was a huge blow against states rights, and it ushered in the era of a massive all powerful government that could be controlled by a small number of elites. Each original American colony was somewhat different and reserved the right to remain so even after becoming states. Slavery existed in about half the states and eventually through something like boycotts might have gone away peacefully aka a natural instead of the terribly violent one resulting in the death of about 700,000 Americans.

Alexander says that on the Gaza Israel war Russia and Turkey have almost overlapping positions. That made me think about what I saw the other day about the alliance against Israel and I'm pretty sure it contained Russia and Turkey amongst others. It makes me think that we just have to wait and see how this all plays out and tragically it may be Apocalyptic but what God desires is what will be. I hope that if not raptured (Siri said ruptured), that we are here for the prophesied long period of peace that reportedly comes next. So who will win? Will it be the globalist, LGBTs, etc. etc. or will it be the old schoolers, or someone else? Whoever it is, if we're still here, I'll try to live with it, as I am not fully in either camp anyway and because that might be God's will…

Think it was David Jeremiah on car radio mentioning Revelation 11:13 - the two witnesses being in his opinion Moses and Elijah then he talked about Revelation seven and the 144,000 Jewish evangelists. Will have to look these up. Don't think the average pastor talks much about these prophecies cause of their direness and consequences etc. Might not be good for; fundraising on Sunday morning and an already harried congregation.

Surprisingly how hard it is to live down your peeps reputation aka stereotypes… make, female Arab, Israeli, black, white etc. but it's doable .

It's no surprise that certain books are frowned upon today and when company comes over we're encouraged to put them away, but this is much better than the old days when they and you could be burned if discovered with them… and I'm not even talking about the ancient ones.

With all due respect, far as I can tell, most people are mostly interested in Salvation, and though loath to admit it the truth is secondary… I cast no blame.

If you want something to happen, move away from the phone … I mean when you're on hold but it's universally applicable.

George Washington is far more likely to be critiqued than Lincoln… me thinks that's backwards.

Just as a dog can tell if someone's; in distress, old or infirm, an infant can too… apparently I'm such a subject.

"There's only one acceptable form of human civilization based on neo-liberal western ideas according to the Globalists"… Alexander Mercouris (Paraphrased), but that also applies to others around the world. The "only one acceptable form of human civilization", position is mostly held by elitist ideological cliques but also by certain religionists etc.

The more I hear, see and read about

Ukraine, Russia, Eastern Europe, etc. the more I think that Washington's farewell address is wisdom, and our policy of policing and orchestrating affairs around the world is wrong-headed foolishness. This trip to Canada, where in Quebec City; Brits, Americans and French Canadians tangled and in Nova Scotia where English Canadians built a fort to defend against France. Canadians and Americans, only reinforces the idea that neutrality instead; of expansionism, imperialism and mercantilism etc. is best.

Nutshell;
I take the Bible seriously but I don't take it all literally. I believe in the historical Jesus not the hysterical one. I think he's coming back, but I don't know how…

Nutshell; I am for neutrality based on George Washington's farewell address. I still think he and the founding fathers were a lot smarter than our current leaders… (no permanent foreign alliances, avoid foreign entanglements don't go around the world slaying monsters), Paraphrased. {The Farewell Address was the culmination and summation of his career.}

Nutshell; freedom of speech, freedom of association, freedom of disassociation, freedom of religion, the right to bear arms.

Aid for families with stipulations requiring education, work and responsibility. Financed with money and thats currently earmarked for wars. As far as social concern, we should follow George Washington's advice and not get involved except as a venue for mediation, and we should maintain a strong military industrial complex, including a powerful standing army to deter aggressors.

Israel may have received the usual rubber stamp from America to do whatever it wants in Gaza, etc. but is that the only permission it needs - and if not, what might be the consequences?

“Targeting churches and their institutions, along with the shelters they provided to protect innocent citizens, especially children and women who have lost their homes due to is really airstrikes on residential areas over the past 13 days constitutes a war crime”.. Orthodox Patriarchate of Jerusalem- after one of the oldest churches in Christendom was allegedly bombed, killing several and injuring many.

“Interestingly”, my non-Christian friends, gasp, and say, “oh, my god he’s lost his mind and become a Christian“, and my Christian friends say, “oh my God, he’s a heathen because he doesn’t believe everything the Apostles Creed says he

“ i’m not suggesting the other countries that are more honorable than we are, because they all kind of suck I have foreign friends, who say this country is being led by idiots after World War II we had moral leader ship but… we killed 3 million rice farmers because Kissinger thought it was a good idea or Nixon light carpet bombing. I hope the Internet, bitcoin and a lot of things related to it, are leading to decentralization and ultimately take the power away from the nation states because you know I don’t think the average person unless you’re a psychopath, most people don’t want to kill other people, but nation states manage to create armies and conflicts get people who are normal people to go kill other people that makes no sense to me.I hope my grandkids live in a world where nation states are defanged, are much smaller, don't exist or have much less power but that's all kind of utopia but we've got to get her a very messy situation here have much less. Best part of life is family and friends, keeping yourself healthy so I try to focus on that over a lot of the stuff that's bad in the world and then you know I think we all need to have things that we believe in and want to try to make a difference about"… Lawrence Lepard (paraphrased.)

Prophecy, probably and probability all start with, 'pro'… hmmm.
The prefix pro- primarily means "forward" but can also mean "for."
Pro is a Latin root word meaning for.

Prophecy and the probability of destruction by nuclear war… X%.

Living in a relatively homogenous society doesn't guarantee harmony by any stretch of the imagination but might it alleviate some “causes” for acrimony? Probably.

My wife would like to have our two friendly couples over three days after the Hospital bombing in Gaza. Both couples are strongly pro is really, and I wonder about the conversation that might occur. I decided I should be mum as much as possible… realizing that, even though I consider myself a Christian, my views are not main stream and anything I say can be used against me, and probably will.

Nonalignment or neutrality what is best? Hopefully I won’t lose friends over these positions.

I pray for the peace of Jerusalem and many other places.

Been listening to different points of view; Russia, China, India etc. not just our neocons, and populists… agree, in part with all, in total with none.

It’s a bell curve, plain and simple. I’m gonna start saying that instead of trying to explain that X percent does and Y percent does that and it’s variable… except that the bell curve is a horrible racist instrument of oppression - I’m told.

My wife's a pretty tough cookie, but she does cry on occasion my daughter too. It's usually for legitimate reasons, and also for getting out of speeding tickets.
I cry too, but it's mostly when I've been “booseled”’ by a screenwriter.

Am I a Christian? I have asked Jesus to be my savior. I believe HE rose from the dead after three days, I’ve been baptized He is who I pray to, but do I have to believe the Bible is completely true… I’m not sure Jesus said that? % it wasn’t written until

Waiting for the day when all my tools will be battery electric, tired of tripping over cords!

There’s always been people in this country who didn’t believe in freedom of religion even though it’s enshrined in the constitution but that number is growing all the time… too bad.

Demons were blamed for things the ancients didn't understand… there're still things like we don't understand … so are there "still" demons? % unrelated you say. In my case, the demons are aching joints, that no one knows how to fix and some of their procedures, even they admit, can make it worse. That demon jumps around - shoulders, back… now it's in my hips. If everyone stops showing up for wars, there might be enough money to discover cures for what ails us.

Airport bathroom; put the seat protector on and sat down… finally figured out how to use it, realizing I've always done it wrong before,,. Which wasn't very many times. I farted and it set off a cacophony of farts from nearby stalls… a fart-fest ensued .

Ever go back and forth with someone on a plane over the center arm rest? Been a while for me but it's happened.

What was the first hominid species to contemplate an afterlife? Neanderthals apparently buried their dead with grave goods or momentous, indicating that they might have broached the subject… what about earlier species?

You might say it's a red herring that people are getting fatter, so they're making seats in the airport waiting area and sidewalks wider but seats on the airplane are getting smaller. It reminds me of climate change where they also want to impose one-size-fit all solutions… in both cases the "solutions" enrich some but inconvenience and impoverish many.

It's no red herring that so many unconditionally support not only the sol but equally the sod, the latter whom cynically and dangerously abuse us via the blanket immunity we grant them. None of us live forever and when you're taught that eternal salvation or damnation depend on; rubber stamping, voting for, funding and unconditionally supporting with lives and limbs, the yahoos' existential, eternal treachery, you become a Ukrainian… aka the the sods' canon fodder and lambs. How many of the "Founders" believed this?

The man next to me at the airport appears to be reading the Torah out loud to himself. Last night our shipmates were quoting the Bible. They look the same age, and are probably similar in other ways as most people are. Also heard a report this morning from the anti-defamation league that since Hamas attacked Israel, antisemitism has spiked. He's probably right, but there is also enormous support for Israel…which will prevail?

A large piece of dust approaches as I sit in the airport and hovers near my face. I blow a puff of air and it disappears. Was that a drone? Ha ha that's a joke at least the drone part.

I find myself looking at and comparing myself to the other seniors on the ship…

how old is he? How broken are we?

As we drove Birdie asked if Rush zlombaigh was still alive. I said he died a few years ago, then read about him on Wikipedia. Remembered listening to him in the 90's but grew tired of it, despite his awards and praise from the likes of Reagan and Trump. Closing my phone I looked up and the first thing I saw was the sticker on the car visor that pronounced, "Air Bag Warning"… hmmm.

I think there are inherent even intrinsic differences in priorities between the genders, ethnicities and races. I'm willing to compromise, but not give away the farm…

Babies, toddlers and kindergartners are an even newer generation, which reminds me how far away I’m getting from the source, but then I see a man 10 years older than me with a cane and remember that we're all relevant.

Even Taylor, Swift and Beyoncé are relatively long in the tooth
I honk three times as I pass girls in the median collecting money for one something. They’re torn, tattered jeans, and pink hair’s a novelty no longer,,, it comes and goes.

Think some of these bugs have heard of me when I took the cover off, the bandsaw hornets were flying all over the place. I jumped out of my skin, but they flew away. Been living right under my nose out here in the shop and I never knew it right now. I'm just watching out for stragglers.

Glad they weren't yellow jackets
Then I knock the belt off the bandsaw. That's OK though cause I've got another handsaw not a good saw, but it's a saw.
What is a marriage contract for woman? It says important as anything in the world to a man a contract is something like when you buy a house or a car we're miles apart I'm afraid.
Or a job contract men that's exactly what this is Complete with responsibilities and fringe benefits
I think biblical prophecy will rule the day, but I will not speculate on the new cycle. Those details are filled in as we go along I do think it's between the sense of light in the sense of darkness who are both Israelis, Jews, and gentiles, and I don't know if Nathan yahoo is one or the other that would be speculation but I think that this will escalate and go on for several years. God help us.

Meanwhile, Marina Abramovich opens her show in London. Check it out. You'll either love it, or be disgusted.
I put it right up there with President Zelenskyy, playing the piano with his you know what

In my opinion, both the master race, and the chosen people are spurious claims

The vagina, oh my God it’s incredible …who comes up with this stuff?

A good song is like a good sitcom. You might get tired of it but 10 years later, you're craving it again.

As we take our seven or 8 mile bike ride, Birdies way ahead of me. I wonder if like knees and headlights, heart are prone to planned obsolescence,,, maybe 1,000,000,000 beats or something?

I peddle for as long as her but slower and stop to take business calls. She doesn't, being more interested in volunteering to help the poor than making money… she comes back and checks on me once in a while .

So… a 14 foot gator killed a homeless woman in Florida. They think she was walking to her camp at night and was ambushed. I say manage dangerous animals that are part of our historic ecosystem but the ecosystem is not natural anymore. Can't we control giant gators better? Zoos, nuggets and suitcases… that's where they belong.

Sharks, gators, bears, bugs - anything constituting a serious threat to humans get rid of or control the heck out of. Much of the planet's no longer the natural, primordial ecosystem it once was, we may be pissing in the wind sitting ourselves in the feet and just plain stupid to try to re-turn it to the way it was. I suppose a question might be, did God create and intend for the natural world to be left exactly as it was or is, or does he want and possibly instruct humans to mold and husband it for their benefit? Some might agree that we have been molding, if not exactly husbanding earth's ecosystem for thousands of years, and some would say there is no God. I agree with the former not the latter and think our responsibility is to mold the earths ecosystem for the benefit of humans primarily, but also to husband its flora and fauna responsibly.

The daughter of Sabrina Peckham whose body or at least her torso possibly was found in a 14 foot gator's mouth, says het mother's death is 'unbearable pain'… The daughter of the homeless Florida woman whose lifeless body was found in the jaws of a gator has been filled with "unbearable pain" since she found out about her mother's tragic death.

Somebody drop the ball majorly this is the second case of a 14 foot gater killing someone in a populated part of Florida. I think there have been other similar cases.

Why would anyone allow such dangerous animals to live in a residential neighborhood? We have altered plants and land to efficiently grow corn, wheat, rice, beans, etc. Though unnatural it's allowed us to feed people and other than; pesticides, herbicides and habitat loss, many would argue. It's been the right thing to do. Gaters belong in the wilderness, not residential areas and not controlling them by any means necessary is foolish public policy. Some would like to have dinosaurs roaming around… this shouldn't be Jurassic Park

I take my medicine wait an hour and then shower. Hopefully I can still do it and wonder what if I just collapse in the shower? After all, the stuff affects the heart and eventually we all die, and eventually we get closer and closer to that day.

iPhone 15 demand is very high in China.

Are the Chinese becoming more like us or us like them. I think it's the latter… and some/many say that's good. What did we buy from the Chinese 200 years ago? Probably ceramics and they might have been exporting affordable buggy whips etc. too.

In real estate as well as the bond and stock markets people are waiting for the dip to buy… we shouldn't sell our condo at the dip.

Beauty is about nature but also; makeup, hairstyles, plucking etc… in other words one might say smoke and mirrors

I'm Sylvania how do you deal with serial assholes? You banish them, eventually just saying hit the road and you might add an adjective in between.

If you want to help those in need that's great, but watch out for those who are incorrigible. If you think say no one’s incorrigible then knock yourself out.

If they ask and I say it doesn't make sense because of; Noah, Constantine etc. they usually provide the established answers. If one doesn’t concur they may write you off, or worse so one might be better off mum. Thing about redheads is there aren't many to begin with and most seem average looking but when you find one who's beautiful, she’s a knock out aka one in a million .

Seems that when it comes to religion, you have to be in lockstep with your religion, and maybe even your denomination.., anything else and you might be called “the enemy”… me thinks that's wrong.

Anything that cannot stand up to scrutiny is debatable and should be challenged, that’s how it works… at least that’s how I wish it worked

I never really “had” a grandpa but with a little luck I might just get to be one

Wow, although there are a number of people I love unconditionally, I can think of only one with whom I have absolutely no ax to grind…,course, that may change.

The Volvo semi’s in the fast lane and won't give quarter. We're going uphill and he's keeping up, so going downhill I don't have a chance.

Have 10 fingers and 10% aka my thumb is arthritic… gonna have to become left-handed or something if I want to keep working .

I keep one hand under my thigh while getting in the car to hopefully prevent pinching a nerve. If I feel it coming and my hand’s there it just might help… getting on the roof or riding a bike requires a similar hack.

As I see the woman from Google being lauded and interviewed on the 25th anniversary of Google, they reminisce about phone and translation books. Then they talk about artificial intelligence and I think of the story yesterday about Amazon and some AI lawsuit against them… are the “Magnificent Seven”, taking advantage of the public, abusing us or simply monetizing a technology - what do you think? 🤔
Me thinks they’re monetizing technology and using those riches to abuse us.

Everything is going orderly this morning. I seem to be fairly efficient. My hands are full though as I walk to the couch with my; waffle, water, vitamins and phone, which I try to put in my pocket but it's inside out

…checkmate.

Meanwhile, back at the ranch I will have to learn to do everything left-handed. It's going to be a challenge.
One thing I learned from my Dad was about shoehorns, especially the very long kind, which may be in handy in the coming years.

I keep telling myself I am not in a hurry, I am not in a hurry. My mantra remains, “how slow can you go?” All this rushing around leads to no good.
…So why am I still rushing?
It might help if I stop trying to find the quickest route, the shortcut, and the most efficient way of doing things… it's a waste of mental energy.
Remaining tranquil can be tough, especially when there’s a slow poke in front of you or a light turns yellow.

For the most part, I think women look better with a bit of clothing on. Someone with a “decent” figure can look fantastic in tight jeans, and somebody with a fantastic figure just looks fantastic naked, but may not have as pretty a face as the girl with the decent figure…ipso facto, girl number one wins. Guess you may call me shallow

Think it was Matt Miller on Bloomberg talking about how it's nice that in London, you can get a drink during the day and in Spain they drink all day then take a siesta. He wondered why Americans work so hard and have such a large anti-drinking faction. Maybe it's because they have more mass transit, while we get behind the wheel and slaughter each other. % I reckon we're also more religious than England and more Protestant than Spain.

Just want to live with people who share similar values. That may be people of all creeds, races religions, or it may not. Are we more likely to find that amongst people of similar creed, race and religion? If so we shouldn't be prohibited from seeking like minded or like looking peeps.

At the Toronto airport I see many races arriving to their new home. Will they embrace the golden rule and live together happily? After all, most have the rule in one form another.

Me thinks the likelihood of conflict may increase roughly in proportion to the number fundamentalists from the various religions in the community.

It's indigenous people day in Canada, counting coup, taking scalps, burying people in ant hills. Maybe that was just in America.

As we get on the Princess cruise ship birdie is nice to everyone but it's slowing us down. You can kiss ass or kick ass I say that and she laughs… it wasn't directed at her .

"They" are just like us but more so …

maybe that's a joke % or maybe we are just like them but more so. I want to live in peace with peeps but not to be replaced by them… is that a rub, balancing act or much ado about nothing?

Silly low flow toilet flushed four times, par for the course as was Siri completely mis-transcribing this.

Watching "life below zero", on National Geographic the Rowland Homestead McCarty, Alaska. Brittany’s homeschooling the kids and it makes me think bout our public schools where children are all basically taught the same things, same “facts” and the same value. How different is that from 150 years ago whenever communities taught kids; reading, writing and arithmetic, but didn't have values imposed on them from somewhere else. They had their own standards and home schooling is similar. There’s diversity of thought instead of kids being like biscuits in a pan… not to mention who’s “devising” the curriculum

"I am a red man. If the Great Spirit had desired me to be a white man he would have made me so in the first place. He put in your heart certain wishes and plans, in my heart he put other and different desires. Each man is good in his sight. It is not necessary for Eagles to be Crows."

“Bell curve’s”, seem a credible if not incredible discovery… why so hated? % The truth hurts?

At my age I have to use every possible hack and trick in the book to get through the day… that’s OK .

Not going to squabble with my wife on purpose like some seem to do for fun. I think it may lead to problems for them and since we squabble by accident from time to time - that's good enough for me.

Another way I'm like Dad (kind of)… he had the same bottle of Johnny Walker Red on his shelf for years… I had a bottle of Bulleit and Buffalo Trace stashed as trade goods… eventually broke into the Trace.

What I learned for these junkets around the world is that people are the same everywhere pretty much. I can learn that anywhere.
The looks are more different than the behavior.

I see a "be kind' T-shirt and wonder if it really means "give away the farm?"

10/23,,,Hamas attacks Israel… reminds me of Russia/Ukraine,.. decent peeps but bad players on both sides. As usual we're unlikely to listen to George's farewell address when we formulate our response.

I take back what I said about only one percent of what I write being good. I think it's probably 50-50… but I'm biased.

I MO what's happening in Israel is probably prophetic… is the word probably related to "probability?"

Driving's like a microcosm of human nature and our nature is self-centeredness. Some might say sin is our true nature. Anyway, some of us get upset with peeps who don't drive the way we want them to, or appreciate what great drivers we are

Drivers communicate via; horns, middle fingers, tailgating etc. and weaving in and out and not using our turn signal if we've been "insulted. By having been tailgating or by moving driving too slow.

Were babies beheaded in Israel? Were Kuwaiti incubators stolen and babies thrown out? Do your own diligence. Me thinks Bible prophecy might or will happen… how's that for hedging? Is like predicting a recession which is much less serious course? Might there be; a soft landing, will the can be kicked further down the road, will there be a train wreck, and if so, will it be fast or slow?

Churchill said some thing about during war, the truth must be surrounded by a wall of lies and you know it Mark Twain said about the news, don’t you?

The founding fathers knew a great deal about the world, including Islam, and even China. It’s just took weeks or months for them to get information because they got it and they were far wiser than our leaders today. % Les jeux sont fait?
I continue to prefer writing about these things and situations, than discussing it with my friends….they don't understand, and most never will.
They continue to follow the council of Hollywood script writers. That's been going on since antiquity and I suspect it will continue into the future for some unknown period of time.
Why not get your news from diverse sources around the world when you're looking at world events? Particularly those who don't have dogs in the fights we’re hearing about.
I can think of at least three versions of who Jesus is. The Christian one based on the council of Nicaea, the Jewish one based on the Talmud, the gnostic one, and the historical one which may differ from all the rest… and you might as well throw CS Lewis's quote into the pot.

What I see are the faces, the hard faces of men and women throughout history showing great concern for the world and their souls

Just as the clothing styles and politics of opposing sides in this latest crusade have changed in the last 50 years, so has the music on both sides. It now includes themes and lines that can be construed to promote, encourage and normalize marching off to war… of course both sides think God is with them.

When it comes to organized religion, what I like best is some of the music and much of the art

The cave bear has been replaced by damnation

So we need a plan for how to get up I think the trick or hack might be to strengthen our core and legs without injuring those or other body parts in the process.

Walking down to the garage I clap loudly once, to wake the mushrooms and let them know it's time to start growing again in case they've been asleep. % Apparently they have keen hearing.
We control America is a contested quote, but you may want to look it up anyway
You can add to disputed quotes, boiled in His own excrement, and the "discredited", protocols.
Is America the Roman empire just faster?

Can't get out of your chair there must be a signal sent from the brain to the body. You can do it.
I don't trust Biden I don't trust aBlinken. I don't trust Putin I don't trust Zelenskyy I trust Trump more but far less than; George Washington, Thomas Jefferson, Ben Franklin, John Adams, and his cousin

Sam… unfortunately, they’re not around anymore.
If your eternal salvation is tied directly to a religious position, you're not going care about history, or the truth, that's not even tertiary.
It's not even on the radar…I say that with all due respect.
Justice are politicians billionaires in news outlets lie to the people today they live thousands of years ago they never stopped they never started they just did it

One of the secrets of a successful marriage is realizing that you have different priorities and accommodating, the others, but not to ridiculous expense
My idea of challenging one's memory is walking past the thermostat and taking the

So will the USB the hammer of God the anvil or a profiteer, relative bystander and arms dealer?
St. Onge talks about the bureaucracy, taking power from the people aka the deep state and lobbyists. Me thinks he's on target, but missing the bull's-eye, because those are more likely “just”some of the apparatus the sons of darkness use.
If I write in my votes for; Washington, Franklin, Adams and Adam, and maybe Jefferson and others, it's not a joke it's a protest
“The state, establishment the elite, whatever term you want to use,,. what really concerns me about what happened during Covid. I think they had been holding back because they imagined the people would resist and I think all of them were

I don't have a great deal of faith in our leaders, but I have a great deal of faith in the man upstairs, but it's terrible to think what might happen
When I moved to the new town in fourth grade, my best friend for a year or two was a Jewish boy. Then came the 1967 war and for some reason we drifted apart… it may have been our parents.
I don't remember them ever saying anything, and my mom was always a supporter of Israel

One implies you don't need protection anymore the other implies you do
The slow car won't get out of the fast lane. I have to go over three lanes and come back to get around the ass hole and then they move on somebody else tailgates and that tailgater now is approaching me, although not aggressively and I look at them and I think it is a black woman, but I can't tell for sure until she passes me and then I see the lips and I think it is but I'm not sure she's also driving a particular model that I associate: "stereo typically with black drivers.

She moves two lanes to the right to exit the highway, and I am able to confirm my hunch

Meanwhile, I enjoy having the ice pack on my spine. It will go in the freezer while I'm at the farm in case I need it for the ride home.

Then a pick up truck waves in an out at high speed, driving erratically and dangerously. I believe it has an I belong to the NRA and I vote sticker on the back as well as a Cummins diesel sticker.

peoples that haven't made some steak mistakes including massive ones currently Russian Ukraine I think or bad player currently Israel and Hamas I think her bed players when the Indians native Americans were also bad players, and it goes on and on and on.

Came across a long article about Willie Wilson from Summit. The first couple paragraphs about his childhood were particularly interesting… he had it rough!
https://sabr.org/bioproj/person/willie-wilson/

On his podcast, Johnson (Mike Johnson, Speaker of the House), said that "the word of God is, of course, the ultimate source of all truth", and attributed the United States' success as a leading nation to its being the only nation founded upon a "religious statement of faith" (Wikipedia) % Looked but couldn’t find it.

“Good intentions”, sometimes lead to dire consequences. With Meocons wielding great influence over both parties, it’s not hard to imagine them getting their way.

“Laws”, of; war, definitions of terrorism and codes of chivalry may sadly revert to; conveniences, alibis, excuses and ultimately even “justification”, for atrocities.

The original constitution and bill of rights minus tests for gender or race that’s it… in other words still a republic instead of a, “constitutional pure democracy”, or whatever the Neocons want to call it as they attempt to divide and drag us into oblivion. Originally you had to own property aka have skin in the game to vote. I would add one must also pay taxes and not be on the dole to have citizenship rights.

In a nutshell… God’s will be done and praying for peace.

We’re rarely required to leap into action but we routinely need to move… so let’s send a signal from the brain to the limbs and get the show on the road.

I think we should listen to what George Washington said about; avoiding foreign entanglements, not having permanent alliances, and not slaying monsters a broad, but if this is due to Biblical prophecy, then that’s all been trumped.

Hey Blinkin and inherited serious problems and had monumental decisions to make. In my opinion he didn’t do so well… his namesake A. Blincoln may imitate him, and he seems to be pursuing similar goals.

Countries have short term and long-term goals and when you talk about major powers and especially super powers, things get sticky. They use tactics short term and have strategies long-term. All are selfish and potentially messy… if not catastrophic.

“Let me issue and control a nation's money and I care not who writes the laws. The few who understand the system, will either be so interested from it's profits or so dependent on it's favors, that there will be no opposition from that class”… Mayer Amshel Rothschild

We are countries under occupation via money… and "War is the continuation of policy with other means”… Carl Von Clausewitz

Heard a verse from the Old Testament about “the Lord”, that Christians may interpret one way and Jews may interpret another way. Christians may interpret it as being about Jesus and Jews may not but I can’t remember it exactly… there may be a number of such versus.

I don’t want policy makers usurping the Constitution but my kids may prefer it. I can’t say you might end up enslaved but maybe I can say “owned.”

All humans are capable of barbarism, but for nefarious and sundry reasons some commit it more often… is DNA one of them?

As things continue to heat up and conserve and the propaganda machines on both sides, do what Churchhill said a.k.a. surround the truth with a wall of lies. I consider what I might say if friends theme is necessary to broach the subject, I consider myself a Christian, but they may not depending on their denomination and what its list of requirements includes.

I believe in God and I’ve sincerely asked

Jesus to please be my intermediary to God and to please help me in other ways. Not sure I believe Jesus is the God of the universe and or multi-verse if there is such a thing… also believe in the historical Jesus, not the "hysterical" one portrayed and characterized by some and this stance may put me at odds with much of the Christian establishment, which adheres so closely to the pronouncements of Constantine's council of Nicaea… aka book burners?

"At that time Jesus answered and said, I thank thee, O Father, Lord of heaven and earth, because thou hast hid these things from the wise and prudent, and hast revealed them unto babes"… Matthew 11:25

Isolationism and neutrality are they the same? The former is a bad word, and apparently the second is not good… this

When I think about honoring my ancestors,

I can easily go back as far as the photographs and I like that, but there are many more who may be watching - kind of like a news feed, and I honor them too. To those who accuse me of ancestor worship, I respectfully disagree and say pound sand… it's appreciation and respect not worship.

You call him the President of the United States. I call him a resident of the United States.
I sometimes mistake urgency for something else in my wife, and I think men do it in general they they can be shrill or they can sound urgent, but it's just a normal tone of voice

Alexander says Israel does not have the economic depth to survive a long war in Gaza without suffering serious economic consequences. I would say that may be true but they do have America to pay their bills. I keep hearing the phrase laws of war being used generally by our side saying that we are adhering to them and I understand from reading that they are based on various conventions in the 19th and 20th century but I wonder also is it just nonsense because war is Hell, quite literally

In any case, I can't help having a little bit of reservations, skepticism whatever you wanna call it about revelations
Nor do I see much difference between calling yourself, a master race, or a chosen people if, in both cases your intent is to rule the world
And I don't see that as much different than the major religions being intent on dominating the world
They're talking about Chinese foreign policy that it won't change based on our desires and it reminds me they've been around for thousands of years and have been in tact for most of that time unlike any other peoples, I can think of that kind of

I think the fossil record shows that they've been in that part of the world for hundreds of thousands of years
Although I believe in the possibility, and possibly the probability of aliens having visit us, it's also possible that our universe being X billion years old hasn't allowed any civilization on any planet to develop the technology to travel the Lightyears required to reach us from the next star, but what do I know?

I can't help wondering if the American nation is in descent not innocent because of things like hubris imperial hubris demographic changes resulting in a small degree of dumbing down, and the occupation by which it has agreed to give away or sell, it means of self-defense, leaving only the nuclear triad as a potent defense, which may be enough for us to survive, but will we thrive much longer?

We are also no longer even a relatively homogeneous nation
And the principles holding us together are weaker than ever, and the noble part of our history is being erased, and only our terrible mistakes being emphasized
The new principles engineered, and calculated to hold us together, are in my opinion, flawed, if not worse
Meanwhile, we have a loud are technologies, including those they make us comfortable, and especially those who keep us safe to be stolen or sold to potential adversaries
And if America is in, it's just sent a question will be how long will it take till it hits rock bottom or will it just keep bumping along being a sacrificial lamb for Neocons, progressives, etc. and finally no longer be

I feel sorry for the people that were massacred or taken hostage by Hamas, and I feel sorry for the civilians in Gaza. As far as the combatants on both side, I have less sympathy and see it only as a tragic side effect of primitive human nature, that when somebody gives a war, hardly anyone abides by the adage, “what if somebody gave a war and nobody came?” That being said, I see no earthly solution to the Arab-Israeli conflict because both sides seem intransigent.

Did Jesus say that he was the God of the universe?

The situation between Arabs and Israelis may be humanly insurmountable, I revert to George Washington's advice in his farewell address…

My country folk largely so far, seem to adhere to the wicked adage, kill them all, and let God sort them out… such are the tenets of crusades and jihads

My opinion of George Washington is not that he was perfect, not even by the remotest stretch of the imagination. He a slave owner, he was cruel and unfair to the Native Americans, and he may have been compromised by the illuminati, or a fellow traveler. Not to mention that he was; strategic, tactical and disingenuous politically, as evidenced by his allegedly pretending wanting to be head of the army or president.

Funny, my friends who seemed to hate Tom Brady and the New England Patriots because they're Colts fans, seem to hate anyone the neocons hate.

I'm not as devout as most of my friends, because although I agree with the apostles,

A little less than one month into the Godzilla Thomas Israel war (thanks Siri), there have reportedly been about 9,000 civilian casualties amongst Palestinians, mostly in Gaza, with a small number in the West Bank In Israel “proper”, there have been about 1,400 civilian casualties, almost all of which occurred in that horrible day when Hamas terrorist attacked. Twenty-one months into the Ukraine Russia war there have been about 10,000 civilian casualties these reportedly caused mostly by Russians but also by Ukrainians… are terrible mistakes being made?

My mother was pro is really to the best of my recollection strongly so, My dad was probably pro Palestinian, although he wasn't fervent or vehement as far as I recall. I don't recall him ever discussing it with us although he and my mother might've discussed it and we may have heard that. I don't know what conversations Doug had or was privy to at his house, but his father, was a "WWII vet who escaped Nazi slave camp writes book at age 94", so I'm guessing there was more conversation on the topic at their house.

INot saying, avoid efficiency I'm just saying, don't get carried away and don't necessarily avoid efficiency purely for spiritual growth, do it for any number of reasons… including practicality - the same goes for Haste.

Every move we take, ever thought we make is consciously or otherwise influenced by things that we've experienced in the past.

Going naked up the stairs with our hands full, possibly (remotely) in view of the neighbors though the front door window, I wonder if I should speed up, but experience tells me to take my time... the worst outcome is not being seen with nothing on, it's falling down the stairs.

Basic dichotomies and inequalities; if you’re; rich, brilliant or physically attractive, you may have an advantage over others in this competition of life. So should they take money away from the rich, lobotomize geniuses or disfigure the attractive? Another one - men are visual, and “instinctively”, a bit more inclined to spread their seed. Women “generally” would like to have a kid or kids, and be supported in the endeavor and treated well if not like a queen in the process. Also, given a chance or by necessity they will take the reins.

It’s fall and a Cardinal chases a Sparrow off a twig. With winter approaching, there’s competition for resources… but it ain’t like us.

Watching, “Hollywood’s pathetic Black washing of history”, on YouTube, by “History legends”… According to him, Netflix portrays Hannibal as black and certainly Denzel Washington, the Hannibal actor appears to be black. Next there’s Netflix’s Queen Charlotte -
The real Charlotte was a white minor German princess but she’s portrayed by an actress who had a black Guyanese father and an English mother. Moving right along Netflix cast black actress Adele James, to play Cleopatra, who was a Greek Egyptian. In order to believe the apostles creed, I have to either have great faith, or suspend logic, science, and a certain sense of reality. I tiptoe along the line, but lean towards believing in logic, science and reality, more than suspension of the aforementioned, in the name of faith in people who have burned books for centuries… for millennia. I revert to believing in the historical Jesus, not the hysterical one promoted by the burners. The historical Jesus, is good enough for me as intercessor, and intermediary between man and God.

Well, according to some of these versions, 160,000 of them find Christ in time and are saved, the rest are condemned to eternal damnation. How can you be more antisemitic than that? In fact, you know their support for Israel is because partly interpretation of the Bible interpretation of the book of revelations and so on and so forth which leads them to strongly support Israeli crimes to the extent that I mean Israel welcomes the support, but it also tries to control them like when they try to blow up the Temple Mount and so on they don't think that's a good idea so they try to block them"… Noam Chomsky

Seventeen year old Jonathan Lewis was beaten to death by about 15 boys. He was white, most or all of them were black. It's not getting much press and no one's rioted or looted stores. In fact many whites will "partially" excuse his murder, because they believe in payback or reciprocity for mistreatment of blacks… how do you partially excuse a murder?

Deja Taylor the mother of the six-year-old, who shot his teacher, name and picture are finally in the news.

“Taylor, of Newport News, pleaded guilty in federal court here in June to one count of possessing a firearm while being a drug user and one count of lying on a background check about her marijuana use while purchasing the handgun that her son used to open fire on his first-grade teacher (Abigail Zwerner.)
Taylor looked down while Zwerner gave her statement and wiped away tears as Davis handed down his sentence a short time later. He said Taylor had failed eight court-ordered drug tests since her arrest”… Washington post pictures from Palestine”, (1898 to 1917?), and the “requisition”, of Arab men to crack rocks to make gravel for General Allenby’s British soldiers. It reminds me that this hasvbeen going on for a long time. Everybody has played their part in the conflict, prominently the British empire.

A young king Faisal makes his appearance, as does Colonel T.E. Laurence (Laurence of Arabia), and Chaim Azriel Weizmann, a Russian-born biochemist, who became a Zionist leader, president of the

“This”, has been going on for a long time. Are we approaching the crescendo?

A distinction should be made between peace-loving ideologues and the warmongering types, and the same should apply to; religionists and secularists.

On Bloomberg, the guy from Summit is talking about how great it is that congress will get a continuing resolution passed, allowing them to kick the can down the road till February. But they have little respect for George Washington and the boys when it comes to foreign policy. Could it be that both the war in Ukraine and the war in Gaza are religious wars. The Ukrain - Tel Aviv - NY - DC - UK connections in my opinion are strong and Zion would like to destroy Hamas, which is Islam and Russian, which is orthodox Christianity. Zionism's ally is western Christianity… who will win?

Since everybody lies, I mean countries, especially when they're at war I don't believe any of them and that includes our own government, so I revert to George Washington's address.

I’d like to demonstrate to the baby who is probably a toddler now since he’ll be two in a week that he needs to be careful of many things. One of the best ways to do that is to slow down but we are often pressured to speed up either by those around us or by circumstances and situations. In any case, try to slow down, take your time and don’t be pressured. Be careful and have a good, safe life God willing and God help you.

I'm noticing that the shrill, female voice - and shrill may not be the right word, affects everyone and men in particular. It gets us moving but it also affects women maybe that's why they squabble? That tone of voice, which is so potent against men is also potent against each other.
Shrill? let's call it high-pitched, closer to that of a child, which is more likely to evoke a positive response in another adult.

So listen to the words, not the tone.

Related to tone of voice, I'd add that things cannot be unsaid, so don't cross lines from which it may be almost impossible to return

Who said kill em all and let God sort it out?

Novit enim Dominus qui sunt eius (Kill them. For the Lord knows who are His.). That is the origin of the modern phrase: "Kill them all and let God sort them out." Caesarius did not hear that statement first hand but merely wrote that Arnaud was reported to have said it (dixisse fertur in the original text).
https://en.m.wikipedia.org › wiki

“Arnaud Amalric (Latin: Arnoldus Amalricus; died 1225) was a Cistercian abbot who played a prominent role in the Albigensian Crusade. Seamus Bruner talks about how the Rockefellers, upon getting in trouble with antitrust regulators in the early 1900s became the greatest philanthropist of their era, and how Bill Gates did the same thing again after anti-trust regulators investigated him, but in both cases their philanthropy was calculated deceitful and designed for them, and their cronies to “control the world.”

So when I hear the differing economic forecast, I wonder, is it the hidden hand Adam Smith talked about or is it a conspiracy… time may tell.

8 When the disciples saw this, they were indignant. "Why this waste?" they asked.
9 "This perfume could have been sold at a high price and the money given to the poor."
10 Aware of this, Jesus said to them, "Why are you bothering this woman? She has done a beautiful thing to me. 11 The poor you will always have with you,[a] but you

Getting back to what's the difference between calling oneselves; master race, chosen people, not better but better off, or converting people even by the sword… me thinks there are mostly degrees of difference.

Specially when theology or ideology is used to rally one peeps gainst another. When used peacefully, kept to oneself or used individually, there's less harm. Christianity preaches, peace but engages in war on a regular basis to put it mildly.

According to sources in the west, Islam preaches conversion by the sword, which imo is utterly wrong. no better than engaging in war on a regular basis. Judaism has practiced genocide and been

They're talking about the economy and Constance Hunter a guest on Bloomberg says, “the question is what has to be done to get it up?” I’m wondering the same thing but not about the economy .

Looking at the dressers and mattresses on the curb that the Asian couple’s left for weeks I feel like calling the city, or going over and talking to them. Would they put on a charm offensive or be angry? Those are some typical choices… I'm thinking about it cause someone called the city on our renters who hadn't cut the grass in months, and the one City came after me.
I'd still like to know which neighbor it was!

Sometimes the dif tween what we'd like to say and what we’re “at liberty”, to say differs greatly. At one extreme,“hello”, means, “dang you’re hot”, and at the other, “it’s nice to see you”, means quite the

Should we be polite or polite to a fault?

We say, “look what I did for you” and “look what you did to me!”, as we drive in our rhino cages… no wonder there’s road rage.

It certainly is a Monday… went to the post office to ship the Carbide cans, and it was $128 for two. Last time it was $39 and I expected a quantity discount. Instead, I exceeded the box size limit and incurred a substantial penalty. It was the same at UPS. Plus they can't deliver to a PO Box… certainly a Monday.

So what is hell? Some churches say it’s eternal separation from God which is terrible, and some emphasize gnashing of teeth and burning forever too. They're two different things… please make up your minds. Who, if anyone is right?

Regarding all kinds of things, I think my kids know I have preferences, but they are the decision-makers. If however they care to know what I think I'd be happy to oblige.

Stumbling round but feeling better after a hot bath, I remember to turn on the lights. Despite the mysterious vestibular stuff, lighting is still the most important thing… and not walking backwards.

On the tube, Grace Brumley is singing , “Wrapped up, Tangled up”, and I'm finding it easier to believe in the resurrection etc.. usually don't need Pascal's wager anymore but It doesn't mean I'm on the exact same page as her.

That didn't last long after Grace's song, there was a commercial on YouTube that I couldn't understand it was from the government of Hungary… hmmm?

Now, if I can just skip breakfast like Jerry Seinfeld can I'll be doing OK and maybe I'll shut up for a while .

We watched all eight episodes of Lessons in Chemistry with Brie Larson. It was pretty run-of-the-mill for the most part, but the part showing mitosis made me think that as important and amazing as chemistry is, it pales in comparison to, “two turns into four and four turns into eight”, and on and on… me thinks there's something special going on.

Elders, when sitting down, do you keep your eye on the chair until you touch down? It helps.

Another thing I've learned from my wife is all about eyebrows grooming. I’m trying to look more presentable but it's a higher priority for her.

Looking forward to riding the quad to the stagecoach Road tomorrow

Want to ask baby bear, "what's all this grandma business?" Heard you asked Mommy to call, so you could talk to Bobbin… and I thought we were best buds (just kidding .)

Johnny Carson's prescriptions for, "certain misery", because he said he'd had plenty of practice:
1) Ingesting chemicals in an effort to alter mood or perception;
2) Envy; and
3) Resentment.
Charley Monger quoted the above, and added, prescription for sure misery aka, “a life of fuzzy thinking and infelicity” (aka a thing that is inappropriate) :

1. Be unreliable.
2. Learn everything you possibly can from your own personal experience, minimizing what you learn vicariously from the good and bad experience of others, living and dead.
3. Not learning from the best work done before yours.
4. Ignoring the quote, “I wish I knew where I was going to die, and then I’d never go there.”

IMO, the dollar is backed by a little bit of gold, maybe a lot, but primarily by the nuclear triad…

If you have a person with a small body and a big head, can’t more of that brain power be devoted to things other than physicality aka deep thinking? There's probably plenty left over for that in all peeps regardless of brain size but I wonder if larger brains correspond to higher IQs and deeper thinking? In any case, we're all capable of deep thinking.

Light travels about 186,000 miles per second, sound is much slower at 767 miles per hour, which is still pretty fast. The speed of light in particular kind of blows me away but it's the slow way to traverse the universe.

I'm going to brush my teeth immediately after getting out of the bathtub the other day this worked for avoiding eating breakfast
During this holiday season, it might be worth doing
I'll use plenty of paste
The Republicans led by Johnson, perhaps want a resolution saying that anti-Semitism and anti-Zionism are equal democrats led by Nadler and Company say that's not good because it doesn't represent the diversity of Jewish thought which includes some who are not Zionist I think Nadler and Company don't think it's strong enough. They want something like Germany has, where it's illegal to say anything that the equivalent of the anti-defamation league would not like.

Nadler also saying that the Republicans are doing it for political points, which is true, no doubt
Is this the dawn of the electric age and the end of fossil fuel or will we stick with the ladder or will we go back to the Stone Age?
Take time to be regular, using peristalsis as your Ally you cannot be too busy or your gut will gut you
I'm trying to do the go slows you can thing, but no matter how hard I try I moved too fast
When everything is a bowl full of cherries is it synchronicity the man upstairs or a warning about pride before the fall?

Is it synchronicity when everything goes right? The man upstairs, or a warning that pride comes before the fall?
I hope I don't find out the hard way
Did you ever notice that when somebody stumbles the house look backwards to see what it was even though they know already. It's sort of like a disclaimer Light is 186,000 mi./s. I think sound as much slower but there's still pretty fast the light thing in particular kind of blows me away but still it's quite finite in this universe.
Is it possible or even likely that someday will attain it?
There's so many things for what you get just one warning, and it may not be a great big one, so pay attention. Otherwise you might fall down the stairs or do any other number of destructive self-destructive things
And some of those warnings are barely noticeable

Sometimes I do say the F word like this now I said FU double I had dropped something and I didn't want to pick it up till later
I sometimes think about things that I've learned from lazy people like right now I think I'm done but I'm leaving the ladders where they are till I'm sure I'm done as long as there aren't any little kids around why should I put them rehang them and then have to pull them back down?
Maybe they aren't lazy maybe they're smart
Daughter of darkness
How many Chinese work at American defense contractors and how many Americans were good Chinese defense contractors?
A couple things I learned more about from her, are Jesus and eyebrows .
As you get older, you learn more ways of being efficient for example, to save energy, turning lights off TVs off, etc. but you're called cheap. If you do it you just can't win.

I don't wanna be disrespectful, but one sides, a muffin, and the other is a taco. I like them both and I’m describing them in every day terms

This fabric glue is amazing stuff. Mrs. Rakes gave it to us more than 30 years ago and it's still works. I've used it on all kinds of things indoors and out.
But as I put it on the cuff, I have to remember it's silicone and won't come off my skin
Percentage, wax paper backer
Better yet nitrile gloves
But alas, I placed the wax paper wrong, and got the silicone on the counter. Now what Probably should've used the needle and thread

After it dries, I'll know for sure
Continuing this morning of mediocre observations I put the shirt in the garage for the glue to dry. It's a little cool there and for those who say that's OK because it's a chemical reaction I would say yes but temperature affects those too
And I don't need to close the garage door behind me this time of year the flies of all froze to death or flown away whatever they do
And my little prayer this morning is one of thanks that I put the hatchback down and didn't tear it off on the garage door. I've had so many close calls
Which reminds me, always take your foot off the gas when your eyes are off the road Getting back to the 30-year-old fabric glue I used it in the house and in the garage with no ventilation to speak of my lungs hurt. I wonder if they used even worse chemicals forever chemicals back then I've heard Black people say that we look past them they see us but we don't see them but when I do look up, they usually say something kind like how are you doing today?

I see a couple of beautiful girls, and then of course I noticed the hair is colored the heels are high, but I must give them credit anyway for brightening my day
Now they have smart bulbs, but this is the same old crap. They know you're gonna lose the receipt so they can say whatever they want.
Walking through Walmart I hear the lady say where did they went well that's not proper English but she looked like an immigrant so it's OK for a while I hear 29 Palms and it makes me want to try to track down Henry's brother and sister chip and?
Seems like there's a price for just about everything sometimes it's just getting your finger pinched other times. It's a life yours mine hours.

And every few generations were reminded about. I wonder if we're on the cusp such a horrible thing
Speaking of warnings as I've bend over to remove the hitch my glasses slip. I realize that if I don't immediately secure them, they will fall off scratch break whatever
My sweetie is coming with me to the farm and I need to clean the front seat for her but I'm little running behind or lazy so all I do is pick off a leaf that's on it
What is my problem? If I would just stop all this narrative I would've had enough time. We both have our chores to do mine is getting ready for the pharm. Hers is exercise etc. and I don't know exactly why she doesn't. Maybe it's the key herself looking great for me. Maybe it's to keep her options open either one is fine I'm certainly no better.
Of course, it could be for some completely different reasons
Look before you leap… That's a good one

Thank you, Lord that I'm not losing my mind. The coffee mug's there… it really didn't disappear into thin air!
Now, if you'll just help me find my glasses

It's Christmas, and the line at the shoe store was a mile long as was the line to leave the parking lot at the outlet stores. I can't believe that people put themselves through this but they do.
This is I leave for Walmart and I hope I'm leaving early enough it's 1010 to avoid the crowds Passing the Jackson's house I see Mr. and Mrs. Santa Claus smooching and I'm trying to get over my difficult morning and thinking we really need artificial intelligence because none of the websites worked very well and Siri has messed up three voice Rex in a minute
Why would I expect anything to work as advertised even the lumbar support in the Cherokee is messing up it hurts!

But then, on this freezing morning, I pass a cute jogger, and I have to smile
On NPR they talk about a new face in the Democratic Party and exciting new play face sparked by Donald Trump so even during the holiday season, there is discord between the parties, the religions the ideologies
What I don't do often enough is state my appreciation for my daughter, my son I've mentioned a few more times, but I'm lacking in that area too
The first time I heard somebody say to make a long story short I got excited because I thought they really might but after years of hearing it, I realize it's just a waiver
So I've heard only answer the question in hand anything more canon will be used against you, so if you're gonna say it, just tell it to the judge and no one else
If I write anything, it should either be serious, or humorous, and not in between

A YouTube headline from Sunday morning one of the big networks show Norman Lehrer, a life of laughter and activism with all in the family. He certainly was.
To anybody who says why are you writing all this stuff I would say I'm not the only one who does it it's a journal get over it
If you don't like it, stop reading
My daughter she's also one of the bravest people I know
Certainly whatever God says about America trumps what George Washington said, but since I don't know what God said, I'll stick with the latter. % Those claiming to know God's will regarding America don't inspire me.
Watching run to the hills by 1st to 11 and Audrey Miller. I am reminded that although we are not different animals we are different beings.
Some of us just wear what our wives buy… till like it or not they toss it .

Getting ready to get out of the tub if I brush my teeth immediately I'll have half a chance of skipping breakfast but it's December 11 and my body wants to fatten up for winter
Watching on the pontoon little big house in the line who said anything about skiing floats all that I wanna do I can get away with it now problem is I've always felt that way
Guess I'll keep working longer maybe forever cause I don't play golf. I don't fish I don't hunt don't play cards I write I play music and occasionally ride a quad that doesn't take much time.
And oh yeah, I fix things around the house or at least try
Brush your DDs he said
It's a typical Monday. I'm on a struggle bus. I've already yelled at the computer and now I turn off the front porch light. That's an every day thing.

I don't say we're different different. Animals are different different creatures. My wife doesn't like that I think I can say different different beans
I wouldn't want to get into it with her. She is built for the squabble. I think it has something to do with upper body strength, or lack there of.

Some of them are like little sweetie pies
All I'm saying is they have extraordinary power and influence. Don’t know why, but unlike many friends, not sure I believe their storyline.
The timeline may be something else

It's another classic Monday morning just one thing after another - then the lights go out. I won't tell you the rest… gross .

They used to call them, Carpet, baggers and scalawags and US Grant tried to ban them, but a blinking resented it a blinking, a blinking a blinking Maybe he's back in a smaller package

If you are any of these groups, those are called themselves, master race, chosen people, better but not better, but better off, or entitled to convert at the edge of the sword then it's pretty hard to mind your own business
The guy from the port of Miami who's been on TV nonstop says that they want to be prepared for the future and JP Morgan is there advisor that's probably they're probably getting good advice and that's a good thing. A good thing to advise on what's not a good thing to advise on is social policy which gives to the lazy who refused to work or to give to warmongers
So the government shouldn't give money it should just give soup and the bare necessities to those who will not learn or listen. Even the basics of living in society and society is actually designed for people that aren't geniuses.

But people with even a modicum of intelligence, who refuse to learn, not polys side, but science of nutrition and healthful, living and finance basics should not be given anything except the basics those who are too low on the IQ scale to understand those things possibly should get a little more but watch out for the scammers
Take out the word, possibly

Not an expert but my number one advice for a long marriage is never say anything that can cause irreparable damage to your relationship; communicate, politely, civilly and effectively.
I pray for the peace of Jerusalem, because if it's peaceful there, there's a good chance will be peaceful and a lot of other places You're all for Zielinski and Company but I wonder if they will be turned against, but is that just part of prophecy? They're just actors on the stage, foolishly but unavoidably playing a dastardly and tragic role.

They have not stopped killing the flower of butane. They have not stopped, sending the flower of Ukraine, you to die.
And if allowed, they never will stop sending the flower of Ukraine's youth to die
The occupation has its goals they know who they hate, and they will use them to hurt others who they hate
Their agreed is unmeasurable, and they want to rule us all These are the sons and daughters of darkness may the sons and daughters of light counter them forever… notwithstanding we are all sinners and miss the mark. Most of the sons and daughters of darkness think they're doing good, and sometimes they do. We all tiptoe along the line, separating light and darkness.
The the sons and daughters of darkness however are unparalleled in their intent, and ability to dupe others.

Bribery, infiltration, lies, propaganda, indoctrination, blackmail and all forms of violence are their methods.
Unfortunately, they're not the only ones that do these things but they do it most the “best.”

Was Jesus a Jew? That's what they say and many use that to their advantage but I'm not sure I know or believe his mother was, and according to Jewish law that makes him a Jew but who is his father the Holy Spirit? Is the Holy Spirit, a.k.a. God, Jewish or beyond religion or something else?
I'm not in any way opposed to equal rights what I'm opposed to is giving away the pharm figuratively theoretically allegorically however, you wanna call it or do it shouldn't be done

those are the two most important or at least the ladder is
I dare say, women have different; priorities, challenges, goals, and futures to contemplate, and contend with compared to us.
That lady teal said that women want to be owned I don't really believe that, but I think there Isabel curve in there might be in my new number that two and the same would apply for men
And to be owned, might just mean working for a company or many other things

Yes, for a more, but not entirely homogeneous society. It won’t solve everything, but I think it would be better than this.

Not opposed to anybody's particular right to vote, but I am opposed to those who would make us give away the farm - aka everything we've worked for, and there are demographics who are more likely to demand that…that is why we resist.

It's a bell curve like anything else and society should deal with it… but doesn't.

Thank you Lord I found my keys and dementia's on the back burner a little longer…hopefully a lot longer.

Living with someone else requires being a little less self-centered we can still be but not completely not jerks I'm not supposed to whistle at least when the kids are here my wife let me slide
Apply what you've learned in one sphere to another you'd be surprised how things that seem unrelated can help you out
Big Brother, in the movies talks in a menacing voice, but PBS does the same thing and sounds very kind
They're both treacherous and so are others
So whether it's big brother or PBS they're telling us to be cog to live our 70 years and then go quietly silently into the Soylent green, but we resist

As I spout off about cogs in the wheel silently into the night and 70 years, I smashed my finger in the sliding door. I hope I didn't don't lose a nail, but if there's a silver lining to it, it said I've probably learned something about wound care over the years… had quite a few - et vous?

It would be an oversimplification to say that some men are mostly just interested in food and ejaculation, but those are core competencies and requirements for survival of the species that's not to say they don't love their families just as much

Watching the church service and having read that they're over 30,000 Christian denominations and probably hundreds of interpretations of the Bible. Don't know what to think about being criticized for being so called "lukewarm." It reminds me of being criticized for casting a protest vote, instead of voting for one of the two candidates we're presented with, when we like neither. It's an attempt to co-opt and hoodwink us into accepting and endorsing the lesser of two evils… guess I do know what to think about lukewarmness.

I sympathize with women, who, at least in my opinion need protection, either from being in a group, being armed, or being in a society that includes men to protect them, especially from other men. A man on the other hand, can be a bit of a lone wolf and have half a chance a woman may be a quarter she's got her wits though, and that goes along way.
I remember my wife saying that if I ever left and ended up with another woman or something to that effect that I'd have all the same problems does that mean that women are all the same? I keep hearing that they're not maybe there are some similarity just like with guys.

I'm pretty much joking anyway I guess there's enough oxygen and we don't need more carbon
There is simple songs, sweet songs, and Sirius songs as I scan through my library and I'm in the peas. They seem mostly simple and sweet. Penny Ln.,, Peaceful Easy Feeling people need love, etc. So if Israel persuades orders whenever the US to widen the war attack

Lebanon and Iran, and allow Israel to continue killing tens of thousands of Palestinians, you think it's good or do you think it's bad but you think it's ordained because it will bring about Armageddon or 1 billion people are more might be killed so that you're eternal salvation will be insured …whatever

So, perhaps Netanyahu, the greatest warmonger of our day is just another actor on the world states

And those who believe that the Anglo-Saxons America, and the four eyes should run the world leave there will be indicated and remaining power. Good luck.

Can there ever be peace, coexistence, and prosperity without provide intervention when there will always be those who want to; take the farm, others who want to give away the farm and those who want to keep it in the "family?"

And there is so many other related conflicts religious, even between denominations and interpretations and racial and ethnic ideological

So the best laid plans of mice and humans never really work as advertised

So is the dinner party approaches? I think about what I might say if Asten hopefully it won't even come up, but I would say that I take my cues from the founding fathers which means that my views are obsolete so let's leave it there.
So just have it your way
Whatever God will is what will happen I don't know if that's your way or something else but I am a bystander
Or at least I hope to be
Has Joe Biden slogan actually changed regarding Ukraine from as long as it takes to as long as we can regarding support?
So who are better chess players, Israelis or Russians and now the Swedes and the Indians are excelling, but then China may have a game that's even more sophisticated…hmm

And don’t forget, gender and gender politics
So every man and woman who is fantasized has sin according to the Bible, but we are all sinners anyway, and part of this problem is what we watch on the screen. We should turn it off when it does that.
Looking at the small silica gel canister on the floor which first just looked like a speck of paper I thought, could be, then probably is and finally sure thing .
Pollution… Dilutions a solution
Getting ready to go to the farm. Trying not to rush around amongst other things like making mistakes breaking things are falling down. I'll just get stuck in traffic. If I leave at 9:30 traffic will be lighter
As soon as one cut heals, I usually get another one. I'm gonna wear gloves this morning that might help.

But the gloves aren't curing dropsies I missed the fire can with the paper
That's where the reacher Grabber came in handy
As I throw things on the fire quickly to avoid burning myself, I think about the grandkid. Would it be good to show this or wait till he's older the ladder I believe
When I go on a diatribe or pontificate, it's often just a reaction to the morning news
They’re a different animal I'm tired of being polite and parsing it
I shouldn't harp on it but drivers when you pull up next to them you're in the fast lane they're in the lane to your right so often they speed up they don't want to be passed. Something about human nature I guess
They had white face at our church can't do it the other way around

I guess that's not racist or a double standard it's the new equality I guess that's not racist or a double standard it's the new equality
Women deserve equal rights and those rights to be protected because without protection the rights may be stolen, but they don't deserve greater rights than men which I think is currently the case but what do I know?
I attributed to special interest and pure democracy, whereas women out number men and can vote in who they want who will do what they want
In other words, politicians will prostitute themselves for votes to stay in office
I guess it can be a cushy lifestyle with lots of perks
I am critical of what Bertrand Russell said about Jesus, but I'm certainly not hyper critical however, what the Talman might've said is another story
But I don't know if it's in those books anymore Or if it ever was

The blade came off I mean yes I think the blade came off the bandsaw and I tripped over the cord a couple of times I think that was a message that I need to unplug it before replacing the blade
I go with George Washington no permanent alliances avoid foreign elements and don't slave monsters abroad but if we're supposed to do those things for higher reasons then c'est la vie Que sera, sera
Whatever will be, will be.
The founding fathers were wiser than our leaders currently although people say well, they didn't know what was going on in the world, but I think they did. It might've taken a couple months to find out about those things, but then they had the advantage of being able to digest it, and not have to react instantaneously, which are foolish leaders do.
My finger was got squashed in the door a few days ago a week ago is still bothering me. It's slow to heal, but I should be glad that I'm not losing the nail too. I wonder if the gals whose husbands can still do it give the gal status amongst their girlfriends because it means they're still hot enough to turn hubby on?

Of course, the younger folks have the keenest hearing site and probably sense of smell, but amongst the adults, it varies some of us here frequencies like dogs, barking others can hear conversations in a noisy restaurant
Surprisingly, it has its advantages and usefulness
And we all have selective hearing
I don't know who's right but I don't blame the Palestinians for not believing you in your claims to the land 60 freaking seven, should I be grateful or mad?

Talking about abilities, my wife can see what I'm doing in the tub when she's in the shower…

So if women are using religion, Christianity, perhaps especially to further their cause isn't that just what men did for thousands of years and still do but maybe not as actively?
It seems like God and nature have given us a couple of ways to cope with fading memories. One is visual things visual clues. We often see the things that we are looking for even though we've forgotten what they are the other one is every 10 minutes or so the thought might come back around.
And 3M has been helpful to something called Post-it notes and of course Apple or smart phones have all kinds of memory aids
The advantage to using toothpaste, mouthwash, or some kind of mint to prevent eating when you get the urge by delaying it is that you're using willpower too, instead of a prescription

As I see the man about a dog, I wonder what's worse for my iPhone to fall in the toilet land on the floor it would probably survive both.

What I'd like most to impart to others is; moderation, education and kindness. The latter is generally accepted, the formers are tougher nuts, and though I succeed barely if at all, I'm trying to learn them too .

Our friends are scheduled to come over this Christmas Day. If they want to talk about Gazza I should hold my tongue, as anything I say may be used against me. I should just let them say their peace (Siri's transcription).

"It's", looking more and more like a slow motion train wreck…

Saw two bald eagles in a field about 20 yards from Salt Creek Rd. the other day - they might've been eating carrion. I wonder if America will be the world's hammer, it's anvil and does it really matter? I believe we are occupied but I wonder if it's for better or for worse, and I wonder if the occupiers will ultimately be victorious and generous, or does something else await us and them?

I think most Americans are unfamiliar with or reject; Washington's farewell address, the Bill of Rights and the US Constitution, (minus some amendments like the 14th).
Furthermore, I think many Americans believe their eternal salvation depends on approving anything the government of Israel does
In contrast, I agree with; Washington's farewell address, the Bill of Rights and the US Constitution, (minus some amendments like the 14th), and I don't think my eternal salvation depends on rubber stamping everything Nathan Yahoo dements…so I am different from many Americans.

Alcohol can be a truth, serum or make a liar out of us.

“Peace, commerce and honest friendship with all nations; entangling alliances with none”… Thomas Jefferson

I'm trying to have a personal relationship with Jesus, not subject to the whims of; popes, Pauls, pastors and kings.

Everyone dreams and everyone schemes, some more than others.

Is it remotely possible that Gaza is like the “Indian” wars? Native Americans; scalped, raped and pillaged, and the same was done to them. What will happen in the Middle East? Will it as prophisized and if so, whose? In any case, Israel and its allies are dealing with societies that produce engineers and scientists.

Me thinks biblical privacy may be playing out and I wonder who was John of Patmos, why is his name spelled with an H, and who was he in touch with?

I don't think I can vote for Trump. His finger is one of the many that I wouldn't want on the button.

A. Blinken will meet with the Israeli representative to hash things out today. Does he emulate “honest” Abe Lincoln? I hope not, cause he cost America 650,000 lives and ushered in the era of permanent big government.

The oligarchs want cheap labor and want to disrupt American society, etc. They will benefit via a compliant bread and circus society… and to them we are all goy8@. They will likely deny it, but they champion; cheap immigrant labor, open borders, Blackr($@ buying your house and renting another one back to you. “you will own nothing and be happy they say.”

If we rebel, will they shut down the Internet, etc. and make us use smoke signals?

No, an Israeli Real Estate Company Is Not Selling Beachfront Homes in Gaza
The real estate company's ads for 'presale' lots in Gaza and plans to 'prepare the groundwork for a return' to the enclave were meant to be 'a joke' for its followers, but inadvertently caused an international scandal

Hmmm…

The Right-Wing Israeli Campaign to Resettle Gaza
Most Israelis don't want to build new settlements in Gaza. That doesn't mean it won't happen.
https://www.theatlantic.com/ideas/archive/2023/12/israel-right-wing-settler-gaza-netanyahu/676943/

"…based on Israeli opinion polls, anecdotal evidence and conversations with Israeli military experts, some form of resettlement of Gaza is seen as a realistic option and enjoys a certain amount of support — particularly among Israelis who define themselves as right wing."

As a strain to arrange 15 pounds of pillows on our bed and trip over the enormous comforter, I leave a couple of wrinkles for her to straighten out because she must find some thing and it's better that it's something small…It’s just part of living with a full-grown woman .

We hear it all the time, but we must remember that communication is of the utmost importance in marriage and women truly want to communicate to know everything that’s going on and we on the other hand sometimes just like to hear ourselves talk and pontificate that’s not the right kind. This isn’t to say that we must tell them everything we should be allowed to have our secrets as they certainly have theirs but we should be as forthcoming as practicable.

My son has advised that I stop whistling he said it distracts and bothers people and I think he's right, so that will be one of my New Year's resolutions along with less coffee and less sugar but I wonder if we can sing when we hang out together

I've heard it said that maybe Einstein's wife came up with his ideas or at least some of them and I wonder if women come up with all our ideas or at least many of them but they're so busy with what they have to do that they leave the grunt work to us and just brought us along and that is how civilization advances or whatever it's doing

It's kind of fun to write this stuff because even if I bury it and it remains buried for hundreds of years or thousands, it's OK because the universe is reportedly cyclical and beginning list and endless and it will require the same pondering over and over forever

As much as I complain about technology series, etc. I realize it most of the mishaps are due to my own ignorance and mistakes, but not all of them Regarding women and inventions and discoveries that is just one possible explanation, not giving it great credence, giving it some.

What is the controversy with the Book of Revelation?

“Eastern Christians became skeptical of the book as doubts concerning its authorship and unusual style were reinforced by aversion to its acceptance by Montanists and other groups considered to be heretical. This distrust of the Book of Revelation persisted in the East through the 15th century”… https://en.m.wikipedia.org/wiki/Book_of_Revelation#:~:text=Eastern%20Christians%20became%20skeptical%20of,East%20through%20the%2015th%20century.

What makes Orthodox Christianity different?

“Orthodox Christians believe that we are saved from sin and its products corruption and death. Catholics and Protestants tend to put more emphasis on the wrath of God; if we anger Him, He will cast us into hell. Some go as far to say that God hates sinners, but this is a foreign concept to Orthodoxy”… https://www.quora.com/What-is-the-difference-between-an-Orthodox-Christian-and-a-regular-Christian#:~:text=Orthodox%20Christians%20believe%20that%20we,a%20foreign%20concept%20to%20Orthodoxy.

If there're about 30,000 Christian denominations, why is it wrong or foolish to be open-minded to various "interpretations" of Jesus' messages?

Orthodox churches you of revelation then I hear are you washed in the blood by Randy naps and I get the Swaggart version then I hear immigrant song by Zepparella and I get another power craving version of history then I hear CCR's. Have you ever seen the rain…" shining down like water"

Humans are created revolved by God or nature to be self-centered, greedy, generous, etc. and because of these things there will always be problems that we face unless something really weird happens Watching TYT respond to Jimmy Dorey comment about Anna Kasparian. She said they want to ensure that everybody lives a life of decency but who is going to determine that he’s a comedian she’s ad journalist and on and on it goes both calling each other liars pots calling kettles

Yes, it's time to turn to Bloomberg for some real fake news
I passed Reed Road at 56 street at 10 AM took a little longer to get moving because I had a movement and I had to hook up the trailer.
One thing I noticed as I took the bag to the garbage cans and waved to the mailman is that concrete isn't any harder in the winter but the grass is Covering the four wheeler makes about well. It makes more sense in covering the bed, but it's just as tedious.
My mantra lately is how slow can you go because even though it won't win basketball or even pickle game pickle ball game when I see old people I noticed that they are moving slow but they're still moving so as I spot my leg to strip off my longjohns without pulling a muscle

I think to myself how slow can I go?
Another thing I can do left-handed is wash my hair and rinse it
But remote control for the TV and spacebar on the keyboards are probably the most important. Because my right thumb is going going…
Can evolution really occur without a universal brilliant mind orchestrating it I don't know because things either 10 towards disorder or two coming together and over billions and trillions in quadrillions of years the seeds may have happened and the universe is infinite.
Anyway it's confusing and above my pay grade.
I'm trying to remember what my mom and dad said about God when I was a kid and ass something about some universal frame something like that but I'm not quite getting their words right
The cars were turning left at the arrow, but the one in front of me look like they were going to buy things down but they did finally move in time. Now I'm that guy.

Funny how things snowball I pulled a muscle in my groin lifting weights yesterday today I'm dropping things not just once but two or three times the same thing
There are times when you have to rush or at least you can't dawdle for example, when you're dealing with drying times or noxious chemicals that you might inhale
Master race, chosen people, not better just better off seems to me any of those can be leveraged into my way or the highway
And sometimes they are
If you don't want to become a spoil of war don't vote for them
You made an implicit threat one time it's not a hard thing to remember. It's a hard thing to forget I guess you were going to war with the army you had thanks occupation.
But I guess I need to remember what you told me it would be the same with anyone else
Arguably, I gripe too much

I also shouldn't complain about being given boxes of chocolates for Christmas because I eat them anyway or it gives me something to bring to parties and serve to others even though my Val on July 25 I think this is the first day of the rest of my life without sugar
As the population I find them more impressive physically than mentally that doesn't mean I don't find them impressive mentally I do think their mentality is a little different than ours and of course it's not monolithic everybody's individual
Other populations, very accordingly, in these two measures "" And all of this is just my opinion, based on observation, anecdotes and experience
Which you will probably call racism and bias
In any case, I find us more like than dissimilar
Did a couple things write, threw away the suites after New Year's, and drank less coffee this morning
Now, if I can just find that F250 title

They’re going to Hector me…it's built in

So don’t rush

There are so many monkey. Wrenches,l it's not funny; political, biological, personal, technological and commercial … to name a few.

And don't forget that the smartest people in the world are not banding together to make planes not crash, trains run on time and diseases be cured, instead they're banding together, mostly for power and influence, to impose their morals, or lack thereof on the rest of us.

If I hadn't been rushing around in the first place, it wouldn't of happened, and I try to remember that as I prepare to go over to grandchild's house and decide only to clean the coffee maker, not the dishes, and not to even throw clothes in the dryer no reason to rush around doing all those things they can wait

And oh yes, the final monkey wrench we're all sinners a.k.a. we missed the mark Driving to the farm and scanning the radio I can't find anything that isn't opinionated. It's either news, politics, religion and even music has similar messages.
Maybe I should listen to Mozart, but I've never been able to relate to that stuff
It's the same for Jazz, and all the other genres except rock 'n' roll
The Who, the song I'm free lyrics I've told you time and Time before a Messiah pointed to the door but no one's had the strength to leave the temple
People are saying there could be a Civil War, and I think that would be horrific potentially, because if we have two sides in a Civil War, the coast against the middle or whatever you've got powerful forces aligned against each other what we might want to do instead is allow states to secede one by one, and only a few or maybe more will secede but if it's gradual and slow, things might work out better than just a great Big all at once Civil War

And what might be better than that even would be to allow states rights like it was in the beginning
As I scroll through my songs, I inevitably end up back with the monkeys. I'm kidding, but they're not that bad.
As I scroll through my songs, I inevitably end up back with the monkeys. I'm kidding, but they're not that bad.
I think Mickey is the soul, Survivor, Paul and Ringo have done better
You seem to be living in dangerous, uncertain times of my children I think they are probably quite worried if they look at these events, my wife as well, but I, too am worried, but I must remember that whoever is in power is going to feel differently than we do, and especially differently than how I do so I will try to make the best of whoever is bossing us around

My voting November will be a protest vote I cannot vote for Trump because I believe he is compromised and infiltrated. I may vote for; the Addams family, John and John Quincy, George Washington and William Penn.

I'm against throwing people out of helicopters and off buildings. I'm also against enshrining unnatural acts as constitutionally protected so you can foist, teach and promote them to our children through school, TV, movies, music, etc.. in an effort to make peoples sickest; thoughts, impulses or actions seem legitimate. You point to exceptions in nature, and say, therefore, these are not unnatural acts I disagree
As I went to put the remote back on the tub, I tripped over the bathroom scales but for once following good advice, I dropped the remote, grab the tub and saved myself. A remote cost $20 an operation much more

If I hadn't been rushing around in the first place, it wouldn't of happened, and I try to remember that as I prepare to go over to grandchild's house and decide only to clean the coffee maker, not the dishes, and not to even throw clothes in the dryer no reason to rush around doing all those things they can wait
But I can walk and shave at the same time
Thanks to electricity I can walk and shave at the same time
Flow and steady may or may not win the race but it's likely to get you where you're going As I warm up the car with the garage door down for a few minutes, I remember how smelly cars used to be and I wonder about pollution levels, but there are probably 100 times more cars now than there were when I was a kid
When I see that pretty girl at the store, I must remember that I'm looking not only at a beautiful young flower, but at a grandma both are equally valuable
It would be nice if everybody could be successful instead of impoverished, but that may be impossible however, the more people that are successful, the better for society in general, it helps to maintain the possibility of equality and order

If our primitive primate relatives, males are so attracted to the female of their species why is it surprising that we are so attracted to the female of ours especially when they fix them up, sells up, so beautifully with color, make up heels, clothing, spandex, spanks, etc. but that doesn't mean that we have any right to be anything but gentleman
There are a version of love means something different than ours, and we should meet somewhere in between
And if we can't find an agreeable compromise, we should leave them alone
Sarah McLachlan we are born innocent
After hearing these change between the brother and sister, I'm wondering the tone of voice caused problems again, and I wonder is the female voice the way the female voice affects males is it on purpose by nature in God or is it a design floor because it often leads to contention

Let me put it this way perhaps a female tone of voice is designed to get us off our ass and get up and do something because people ladies babies need help but we are not always amenable to that and we want to be on our ass and sometimes there's nothing wrong with being on it and they're in lies rub different priorities
I think we are slightly bigger jerks, and women are because they are concerned a little more about the family or at least in a different way and they're concerned about society or at least in a different different way, but there's not a big difference
And I certainly don't want a queen ship anymore than I want a king ship Don't wanna be ruled by; kings, queens, gods, goddesses, good little worker bees drones, or anything of those ilk… just God, and not according to some power-hungry groups' interpretation.

Is the Bible in errant? Who is God did God speak to Moses from behind a burning bush and was that the god of the multi verses of infinity or is it an Anuk or something like that? That should read an Newquay or something like that, and in essence, the Samarian gods And if there were such gods with a small G, maybe they didn't want to be seen if they were odd looking aliens

Yes, I worry about going to hell if I don't accept your dogma, but I don't think I worry about it as much as some people do. They seem to worry so much that they refuse to listen to, read about or watch anything that contradicts what the "Official" church a.k.a. Constantine's tells them. That's understandable, because the possibility, probability or the certainty of eternal damnation, is a powerful concept, motivator and demotivator. They take Constantine's Bible as completely, utterly and inherently true, without what I would call a thorough and honest examination and study of its authorship, veracity and historicity.

We have people with agendas and dogs in the fight, designing and promoting narratives and we have other people who are interested in Bread & Circus or security. The latter won't do any research they are sheeple….wolves and sheeple…
The sheep are advised that they need not do any research it's conveniently been done for them or they should accept the research presented or else…

Our generals and economists are political appointees; Austin, Millie, Bernstein, and the top of the snake, Biden, and Harris are carefully selected idiots… the other side's no different.

These members of the occupation have weaponized the; dollar, media, courts and schools for their own narrow, some would say vile purposes.

When you live with someone else, sometimes you have to put yourself second and with some people, sometimes means frequently if not most of the time… of course there are two sides to the coin.

There are things I say to myself, and things I say to the man upstairs…he hears it all anyway.

I am willing to defend my property my neighbors? That depends.
The radio commercial went when you've made it through the summer with your narcissistic husband now come to us to help you get divorced we know that women take divorce differently. I guess we're all narcissistic at least a lot of us apparently.

Is it remotely possible that we will be the ones bombed and EMP'd back to the Stone Age? 🙏for peace.

Not religiously on the same page as some of the principal founding fathers, as they may have been deists, etc. but grateful they enshrined freedom of religion in the Bill of Rights…praying we keep it🙏.

When did ladies start doing all the stuff they do and thinking about holidays, traditions and fun etc… when did they begin to civilize us?

Sex for procreation first and secondly for recreation… especially for married couples. It's something that most look to… at least a little bit. In any case it helps us to maintain our bond since otherwise life might become too mundane and routine. %something to look forward to?🎉😊💕

Some blacks say "and what not", and some whites say, "and so on and so forth"… at least I think so 🤔.

We vote for those who say they'll negotiate, but end up bombing… are they are financed by the MIC? WWJB?

The English don't seem to like Russians perhaps because of both country's Viking roots which may have diverged 1000 years. Americans don't seem to like Russians either and I wonder if it's to do with our English roots and a powerful special interest group that dislikes Russians? In any case, our neocons say let the Ukrainians fight them so we don't have to. The result is a decimation of Ukraine's young men - and I wonder, WWJD?

Something that I think George Washington and Jesus Christ might've agreed-upon is that you don't go around bombing people all over the world, but what do I know?

"You are the taker, we are the giver"…Nazareth.
Did she say, "I've got your sperm now I'm going to make a baby", or did he say, "here's my sperm now make a baby."🤔

Apparently peer pressure is almost insurmountable…whether it's; tongues at Calvary, waving arms at a rock concert or storming trenches.🥺

If someone wants protection, should you give it to them? Me thinks there's a good chance the answer's Yes. Should there be conditions placed on you or them? Me thinks there's a good chance the answer's probably no.

There are many things I'm hopeful for not least amongst is that the AirMax works, which is frivolous and then I watched Randy and Grace and Company singing are you are in the blood the green Jesus Caro Road, grace and Company are painted to the max Randy is dressed to the ninth who are they trying to impress and is that counter to scripture I don't know… and then there's Jimmy's checkered past who we all trying to impress where is this a primitive biological competition?
We certainly are a competitive species, whether it's trying to make a light or trying to get to heaven.

I can see why some peeps people say they're satisfied and ready to go… when you have a well cared for grandchild or two or three you might just have that feeling.

There may always be class struggle because some people will always want to accumulate things because they love their family and think that bypassing things on they're doing them a big favor. Not sure that's true, but they might be doing them a favor. Others don't do that we have children with fewer advantages, some of those children, if not most will do fine others will struggle… ipso class struggle.

In a dystrophic world sell info not things… know why?😋

It seems if there is if we are born sinners if there is what they call original sin c it may be based somewhat on survival and procreation biology of our species as with other species and we can overcome it perhaps not as easier perhaps easier because we know that that is the case or at least we might consider it

Now it's into the garage where, as usual there are “things to do”😊
I turn on the radio and listen to the local rock station and morning banter I will cut open the tea stripper wire thing that I bought at a steep discount
That's fun and I look at the cross and wonder if I have enough Bondo and silicone to make a two-part mold for it
I also see other recent purchases or fines, a computer fan and another fan from who knows where that I'll try to use for Mushroom ventilation, and a timer that I'll try to hook up to lights for security while we're gone
The wire stripper Tool will be a challenge to get out of the tamper resistant packaging. It's a real science that they mastered.

I see a rusty razor blade from utility knife sitting on the counter. I will have to find something to pack it in before disposing of it. I want to protect the baby and the trash man.
I'm still working on extracting the stripper from the package but between the scissors and especially the tin snips, I think I've beat them at their own game
I flattened the small boxes that the security lights came in saving the plastic bags. They might be useful in protecting some thing I want to bury.
I'm happy to recycle the plastic and I hope they do something with it. Same with aluminum but cardboard, steel cans and glass. I don't…not yet anyway.
Some of the things that women write about their bodies, continue to surprise me, if not shock at times the latest, being in alias grace and Margaret Atwood book, which was written for the screen, or Netflix by a woman screen written contained the description of a hairy mouse hole. Yikes. How is it that I can always only find left-hand gloves or right hand, but not one of each I put it in the same category as bread, falling, butter side down, etc.

But if they are, they're probably worth just about diddly

A 150-200kg black stone Ram Idol reached an Ayodhya India temple ahead of inauguration.

India, but this one is special. Because in many ways, it is emblematic of how polarized the country has become under Prime Minister, Narendra, Modi, and is at the heart of his reelection efforts …Rising Hindu nationalism - a national register of citizens, and a law that makes it harder for Muslims to demonstrate that they are Indian citizens… steps that would cement India's move away from the secular politics of his past ."

Did Jesus visit India? Was he influenced by Buddhist or Hindus? Just wondering. Also, wondering who would Jesus bomb? Who would Buddha bomb etc.

There are religions who want to be the only world religion is that right or should there be diversity of worship and diversity of spiritual thought?

I'm in favor of what George Washington said in his farewell address. “Defence is in many ways the cornerstone of our relations across the world.
Our world leading Armed Forces, cutting-edge industrial base and willingness to support our allies is the reason why Britain is the partner of choice for so many… But it’s not enough to deter. We must lead.
Standing up for our values around the world.
And Ukraine is a test case.
This year, its future may well be decided.

But the West must not let them down.

We've convened some 10 countries to help Ukrainians train here in the UK.
And today I can announce that our programmes have now trained over 60,000 Ukrainian troops since Russia launched its invasion of Ukraine in 2014…That is why on Friday the Prime Minister signed the historic UK-Ukraine Agreement on Security Cooperation.

When confronted or accosted by those who want to have an argument or debate, I try not to oblige them. I generally will say something nice then turn and walk away, but I am not a pacifist. If they accost me for not participating in their parody, I will defend myself as powerfully as I can. Contentious issues in general are not so simple as to be debated on the spot, and if one respectfully disagrees, they're disrespected… so why engage?

Chosen people, master race?
I don't think so. Sacrificial lamb on their behalf? I hope not. As the zealots have no problem with this, me thinks the future is fraught with danger. Will peeps control demented leaders, or will we be destroyed by them?

I wonder if whoever promised these things was the God of the universe or an extra terrestrial, standing behind a burning bush? Regardless, as a result we are an occupied

I like watching videos on ancient history because it is not so propagandized although that's not entirely the case, but compared to the modern new cycle it's more straightforward Watching since I laid my burdens down and other songs by Sunlife broadcasting, and Jimmy Swaggart, I noticed that they put different people in the foreground of the studio but when you see Jimmy actually playing in the background, they have less glamorous singers in the other booth. Generally speaking, I still like it :-)
Maybe Jimmy's just a smart marketer
My family members might think that I look upon them in two traditional, or some other unsavory way and I hope that's not true but I have to admit that I am influenced by biology history, etc. and I think they are too, and may look at me in similar ways we are all unfortunately subject to that but let's not see each other solely as meal tickets, etc. If I were to elaborate on the etc., unsavory Park, I would say things like biology perpetuation of our family which they probably resent but I certainly don't see my daughter as a baby making machine or my son as a perpetuator of the line either instead I see them as eternal souls that I will always love

Reason that Americans are Did and support the neocons. We're all in it together a.k.a. our 401K plans are pension plans our house payments, and our car and truck payments depend on keeping the scheme going and it's not the common man and woman's fault.
I don't think I'll vote for Trump, because even though I agree with many of his policies, I think he's a bit of a gangster head of a gangster, family crime chief, whatever you wanna call it, but even more than that, I think he cannot resist the occupation either, and if he is instructed by the occupation to all out war nuclear war, he will press the button as much as button Biden Adams in Washington would not voting for their dead bones over these guys And equally important for our support of an Akon is our religion. We have been duped in all matters and respect.

As I use the bathtub this morning with its soap holder, grab bars that are built-in and little shelves where the coffee cup and cereal cup sat nicely, balanced. I think that some things like this are exquisitely designed others reasonably well and some poorly the bathroom sink also was good.
Then I use the wall and the door jam for balance to put on my pants. It's a natural.
I remember my dad visiting in his old age and he used the glass of the front door. I guess I wouldn't trust that apparently he did and it worked.
He was a very smart man, but I wouldn't have done that!

So are these messianic figures truly in touch with the universe or do they just have greater inside and at times is that inside wrong? You better not say that to their adherents.

The Middle East? God's will be done but imo it would be a terrible surprise if what's going on is His will… aka WWJD? Seems more like just as He apparently allows free will, stupidity and errors by average people, He might allow it by countries and their leaders. God help us🙏.

Synchronicity

There is nothing wrong with changing your position on everything from real estate, but you're called wishy-washy… you're supposed to react instead of thoughtfully respond.

It's also a good idea to change your position when you're watching TV or driving distances in your car, learn about the seat adjustments, including the lumbar if you have one while driving and while watching TV get off the couch sometimes and move to a straight back chair or stand, and do to lift behind the couch for a minute or two or a balance exercise something like that.

I use the term “God’s will be done”, and both sides look at me funny. One thinks I don’t have the right to say it because I’m not bonafide and the other’s shocked I would say something that in their opinion is so ridiculous.

Somehow I made it through the Unitarian church’s “ liberal religious education”, without falling for the occupation’s, subtle teaching that there is no God.

Are we seeing fulfillment of the prophecies of John of Patmos and does the news cycle just fill in the blanks? Or are we self-fulfilling them?

There are more baby boys born than baby girls, I think, and maybe God or nature designed it that way since boys die at a higher rate, and then, when you get into old age, there are more women than men, but I wonder if that final ratio is altered by wars because God and nature might've designed it so that meant more men would be baby boys would be born because of accidents and competition leading to fights etc. but these got off awards we have may skew it even further

Do you really think Chuck Schumer wants? What is good for America?
Regarding my criticized, protest vote for Adams or Washington. I would say I prefer these dead people over the live ones we have. It's just making a point that I won't vote for people so intent on doing what imo is the wrong thing.

Imaginary conversation with a child;
There are bullies out there, who will try to make you their friend because the more friends they have the more people they can bully and the stronger they feel, but they will make those friends take the fall for them, in other words to get in trouble to make them stronger.
They use different ways to get their way sometimes it's fighting sometimes it's social media. Sometimes it's embarrassing people other times it's promising people things that they may or may not give you in any case it's good to avoid these people, but realize that that's not always possible in fact, they might come looking for you either because they want to embarrass hurt or make or be your fake friend. So it's best to avoid them and find truer friends, better friends kinder friends.

It's also good to be prepared when the bullies, ignoramuses and jerks, come around, either seeking fake friendship or trouble in general.
That means you should learn self-defense, something like boxing or the martial arts, and the best person to learn it from is your father. The best way might be to learn it together because I don't trust people who teach it they might be good people, and they claim they will protect you, but some of them can be abusive, and very bad ways, and others can be careless, which would mean you could be badly injured as a result of their lessons.
If you are in a fight, you should use your arms hands and the way you stand and move to avoid being hit or thrown to the ground because if you're on the ground, people can kick you in the head, solar, plexus, or balls etc. you don't wanna be hit or kicked anywhere but especially in these places, take the head, for example. Your head has very sensitive spots including the chin, mouth, nose, eyes, ears, throat, forehead, and the temple, which is between your eyes and your ears. I wonder if it's called the temple because behind it is your brain which is kind of like your church or the thing you use to communicate with God.

Another very sensitive place that you don't want to be hit is your solar plexus which is the part of your stomach between your belly button and your upper chest and if you're there in that bundle of nerves, it knock you to the ground and paralyze you for a minute I wonder if it's called solar plexus because it's like the sun very important for your life.

Another very sensitive is your balls because if your head or kicked there, it will result in extreme pain for several minutes leaving you vulnerable to further attack Anyway, watch your back your front and your top knot.

So learn and practice self-defense along with your father please and be very careful as Tyler and I in ready each other doing test that when he was about 14 and I was at least 40. Even though we used headgear and gloves, we must've hit each other a little too hard.
Avoid and don't hang around with people who like to bully, insult, make fun of or take advantage of other people, they're on the wrong path… don't, don't follow them down it.

Cotton Mather's the name twas trying to remember…
"Cotton Mather's reputation, in his own day as well as in the historiography and popular culture of subsequent generations, has been very adversely affected by his association with the events surrounding the

Salem witch trials of 1692–1693.[20] As a consequence of those trials, nineteen people were executed by hanging for practicing witchcraft and one was pressed to death for refusing to enter a plea before the court. Although Mather had no official role in the legal proceedings,[21] he wrote the book Wonders of the Invisible World, which appeared in 1693 with the endorsement of William Stoughton, the Lieutenant Governor of Massachusetts and chief judge of the Salem witch trials. Mather's book constitutes the most detailed written defense of the conduct of those trials.[22] Mather's role in drumming up and sustaining the witch hysteria behind those proceedings was denounced by Robert Calef in his book More Wonders of the Invisible World, published in 1700.[23] In the 19th century, Nathaniel Hawthorne called Mather "the chief agent of the mischief" at Salem.[20] … More recently historians have tended to downplay

Mather's role in the events at Salem. According to Jan Stievermann, of the Heidelberg Center for American Studies, unlike some other ministers [Cotton Mather] never called for an end to the trials, and he afterwards wrote New England's official defense of the court's proceedings, the infamous Wonders of the Invisible World (1693). Still, there is now a general agreement that his beliefs were very typical of the period, that he acted as a moderating force in the context of the trials, and that he never directly participated in the proceedings. He advised the judges against using spectral evidence and offered recommendations to proceed with caution lest innocent people come to harm. In the end, Mather's role in the witchcraft episode was thus ambivalent and conflicted.[24]…wikipedia.

• LanguageWatchEdit

The Tzoah Rotachat (Hebrew: צוֹאָה רוֹתַחַת, romanized: Ṣōʾā Roṯaḥaṯ, lit. 'boiling excrement') in the Talmud and the Zohar is a location in Gehenna where the souls of Jews who committed certain sins are sent for punishment.

Babylonian Talmud

The Babylonian Talmud lists the cause for a Jew being sent to Tzoah Rotachat as those who scoff at the words of the Chazal are judged in Tzoah Rotachat. The Babylonian Talmud also hints that the punishment has more of a physical implication to it. In Eruvin 21b.10, Rashi writes that he who engages in "excessive scoffing" is met with the second part of the same "straining of the flesh", essentially being judged excessively (straining) of his body.

The supposed presence of Jesus in boiling excrement is one of the often-claimed references to Jesus in the Talmud.[1]

Onkelos raises up a spirit named Yeshu by necromancy,[2] and asks him about his punishment in Gehinnom.[3][4] Yeshu replies that he is in "boiling excrement."[5]
According to Gittin, "Onkelos bar Kalonikos, the son of Titus's sister, wanted to convert." (Babylonian Talmud, Gittin 56b.18)
Onkelos then went and raised Jesus the Nazarene from the grave through necromancy. Onkelos said to him: Who is most important in that world where you are now? Jesus said to him: The Jewish people. Onkelos asked him: Should I then attach myself to them in this world? Jesus said to him: Their welfare you shall seek, their misfortune you shall not seek, for anyone who touches them is regarded as if he were touching the apple of his eye (see Zechariah 2:12). Onkelos said to him: What is the punishment of that man, a euphemism for Jesus himself, in the next world? Jesus said to him: He is punished with boiling excrement. As the Master said: Anyone who mocks the words of the Sages will be sentenced to boiling excrement. And this was his sin, as he mocked the words of the Sages. The Gemara comments: Come and see the difference between the sinners of Israel and the prophets of the nations of the world. As Balaam, who was a prophet, wished Israel harm, whereas Jesus the Nazarene, who was a Jewish sinner, sought their well-being.

—Gittin 57a:3-4[6]

According to Jews for Judaism, the Jesus (Yeshu) in this passage is different from the Jesus of the Christian New Testament; a 1st century BCE Jewish sectarian who rejected rabbinic Judaism by creating a new religion that combined Judaism with Hellenistic paganism.[7] Writing for the Jesuit America magazine, Gilbert S. Rosenthal wrote, "even if Jesus of Nazareth was the intended subject of some of these troubling passages, they reflect the opinion of one man, not the consensus of Jewish thought then or now."[8]… https://en.m.wikipedia.org/wiki/Tzoah_Rota chat

Speak in sentences don't just grunt. For example, when a woman asks a question, don't just say, "yes", instead say "yes I do", "yes I will", or something like, "yes dear", or, "okay honey." The point is women want communication, which requires words not telepathy… even though they claim to be highly intuitive🤧.
Whether or not they are is outside of my wheelhouse (I just wanted to say wheelhouse☺.)

On a related note, it's great and nice to help "keep" the women (or anyone) in your life happy but there should be limits… or your whipped, and that's no good for anyone. Ultimately it's up to each of us to be happy, all we can/should do, is help by being kind etc.

On another related note… as we drive home from Florida I think I notice a pattern - and as usual I probably should keep it to myself but can't😗
It's that women drivers clump together with other cars, while us fellows, being the independent beings that we are, spread out more. However a woman on a mission, like a mom or grandma on her way to pick up a wee one, throws that logic right out the window. % IMO women have more "missions" than men. Of course they, "want to have fun", but they also are more inclined to be civic minded aka team players. That may be why worker bees are females and why women on average live longer than men. Women's "missions" may or may not be useful overall but men's too often are just the opposite. ..That's why a nib-nosey woman might be a major annoyance but despite notable exceptions, she's typically not a danger to society, like a nib-nosey man.

I wish people would drive the way I want them to but it's a free country so they don't have to… but surely they could do a better job! Aka drive like I'd like to😬.

Feel free to rebut me, but it seems to me that the neocons are led by two groups, hard-core scientist, or primarily killer and soft core sinus, who are mostly Christian. The average Christian doesn't know a great deal about prophecy, but knows about the holocaust, and thanks, and was taught that the Jews deserve a safe Homeland. The average Christian also hasn't been taught about the historical acrimony between Christian and Jews, instead, they think everything is hunky-dory.
Jew. On the other hand, not only remember the holocaust they also remember; pogroms, banishment, crusades, and other episodes in history, where they were persecuted by Christians. Christian priests, ministers and pastors etc. neither dwell on prophecies about the end times Or even share them in detail with their flocks. These prophecies may be too dire for many people, and would shatter the notion that use in Christians are almost one united group.

The Rebbe Etc. may still see Christians as a threat to their survival but useful in the short run just as Christian leaders who are familiar with prophecy see the Jews.

Perhaps as she has scenes wrote, there are sense of light and sense of darkness. I don't know if they caught this to only exist on the Jews, and I don't know if they thought that most people tiptoe along that line between sons of life and sons of darkness, or if they thought, the groups were monolithic, but I think the former.

U.S. Rep. Andy Ogles is facing criticism after telling a Palestinian activist he thinks "we should kill them all" after she confronted him about the deaths of children in Gaza amid the ongoing Israel-Hamas war, though Ogles' office said he referred specifically to Hamas.
The exchange, caught on video as the activist approached Ogles in Washington, sparked pushback from local Nashville officials and the Nashville-based American Muslim Advisory Council.

“Kill them all and let God sort them out”…
"Caedite eos. Novit enim Dominus qui sunt eius." is a phrase reportedly spoken by the commander of the Albigensian Crusade, prior to the massacre at Béziers on 22 July 1209.[1] A direct translation of the Medieval Latin phrase is "Kill them. The Lord knows those that are his own". WHY DEMOGRAPHICS IS NOT DESTINY

by Logan Chipkin | Apr 6, 2020
“Demographics is destiny” is a phrase uttered in some rightwing circles and quietly believed in some leftwing ones. In political terms, the phrase suggests either cultural or genetic determinism, or both—namely, that people of a particular culture, ethnicity, or race will (statistically) vote in a particular way. Although the highly politically incorrect words won’t leave Leftist lips, some of their common narratives can only be true if they also believe that that three-worded devil is, too.

For example, in 2019, Sabrina Tavernise of the New York Times wrote that “Once the heart of the confederacy, Virginia is now the land of Indian grocery stores, Korean churches and Diwali festivals…It is also significantly less white.” Beyond Virginia, Tavernise goes on to credit this browning of America for other Democrat victories when she writes, “Democrats took control of the House and elevated Nancy Pelosi to speaker in 2018 because of victories in these fast-changing parts of of America, and both parties are preparing for battle over these voters in 2020.”

Meanwhile, there was recently a civil war in American conservatism, largely surrounding the intersection between demographics, culture, immigration, and voting patterns. Mainstream conservative voices argued that race is irrelevant, illegal immigration should be curbed, and that culture transcends race. The more dissident wing questioned whether or not a freedom-minded American Republic could survive mass legal immigration from third-world countries, since their cultures and genetics lend themselves to voting for larger and larger government.

I sometimes roll my eyes at “both sides are wrong” assertions, especially when their champions are driven by a desire to appear fair-minded and above the fray, rather than by a desire to pursue the truth. Alas, feel free to accuse me of the same, but in this case, it’s true: both the Left and the Right are wrong that demographics is fundamental to the political future of America (or of any other society). Demographics is not destiny.

As I’d said, demographic determinism comes in two forms: biological and cultural. Although the latter is more important, the former is in some ways a more egregious error. Biological determinism—the notion that people’s behavior, actions, or physical characteristics, is determined by their genes—is false. This can seem counterintuitive, since genetic determinism is true for other living creatures. But the defining characteristic of people is that they are capable of creating explanations of the world around them, of creating knowledge that hitherto had not existed. In the words of physicist David Deutsch, who expounded on this concept in his 2011 book, The Beginning of Infinity, people are “universal explainers”. This capacity to explain and understand the world is intimately connected with our corresponding ability to control it.

And that power is why people are not genetically determined: given adequate wealth and technology, any genetic condition may be compensated for by technological innovation. For example, a child born with no limbs may be equipped with prosthetic ones so indistinguishable that the mutation which caused the condition in the first place is moot. Poor vision is already compensated for by glasses, contacts, and surgery. Even something as seemingly determined as height may in principle be modified, and some individuals have undergone so-called leg-lengthening surgery in recent years. The same logic applies to inborn diseases, susceptibilities, disabilities, and any other problem that Nature may not have solved for us.

One really has an obligation to let the imagination fly here—in general, if a solution to a problem of the human condition is possible in principle, then people can procure it, given only that we create the knowledge of how to do so.

So physiology poses no fundamental limitations on what people are capable of achieving in the long run. This is a blow against some strands of genetic arguments surrounding immigration, especially with respect to the supposed importance of race. To emphasize: any perceived shortcoming owing to genetics can be compensated by the requisite technology. Even if such an innovation has not yet occurred, it is always discoverable by knowledge-creating people.

“Fair enough,” the determinist says, “but culture still matters, and immigrants who come to America still vote Left.” But culture is merely a set of ideas put into practice, and those are also not set in stone. History alone makes this clear, as the practices of your own ancestors from merely a few generations ago, with whom you share most of your genes, would likely horrify you today. The fact that cultures can improve at all proves that they are not some unstoppable, unchanging force. And, perhaps ironically, while genes propagate in only one direction—from parent to offspring—culture travels every which way imaginable, thus allowing for a plasticity and adaptability of which genes are utterly incapable.

The fact that people are universal explainers rules out cultural determinism as it did biological determinism—because people are capable of creating ever-more accurate explanations of reality, of resolving errors in their worldview, no culture is ever deterministically linked to any group of people. Just as the unbounded creativity of people renders our own genetics merely a background canvas on which we may paint whatever manmade environment we desire, so too does our creativity lend itself to modifying and, hopefully, improving any cultural milieu in which we find ourselves.

A salient example of deterministic thinking on questions of immigration is that of Muslim migration into Western nation-states. As Adrian Michaels of The Telegraph wrote in 2009, “Europe’s low white birth rate, coupled with faster multiplying migrants, will change fundamentally what we take to mean by European culture and society…Muslims represent a particular set of issues." More recently, in 2017, the Pew Research Center published projections of Muslim percentages of European populations over time, under various possible scenarios. The scenarios differ by birthrate and migration levels, implicitly assuming that the number of Muslims in Europe is determined by these variables.

But ideas don't travel through the birth canal, nor are they shielded from their environment—Muslims who migrate to Europe are exposed to new ideas, new cultures, new criticisms of their most cherished beliefs, and their European-born children even more so. Muslim immigrants and their children may adopt the new culture in which they find themselves, or they may radicalize, or they may do anything in between—the future patterns of people and their ideas cannot be prophesied.

Having said that, we should not idly sit by and merely hope for cultures to improve themselves from the inside, as it were. Some ideas are better than others, and some cultures lend themselves to progress and error-correction more so than others. Since the memes occupying one's wetware are not immovably fixed by either gene nor by the culture into which one was born, we have a moral obligation to try to improve them—both our own and others'. And we do so by criticizing them, by explaining their deficiencies, by offering modifications.
So no, demographics is not destiny. Neither immigrants not those of particular genetics are predetermined to vote in some predictable manner. All people are universal explainers, and as such, are capable of unbounded improvement in thought and action. While it might be comforting to learn that race and other background are not determinative, the other side of the ledger is that since people can improve by acquiring new knowledge, we should not treat anyone with kid gloves. If demographics is not destiny, then the bigotry of low expectations is similarly unacceptable. This is exhilarating, for it means that people are not fundamentally divided by genetics, nor must our cultures be permanently incompatible. Civilizational progress of all kinds will always be, to quote David Deutsch, at the “beginning of infinity”.

When talking about sin, missing the mark is one definition, another might be self-centeredness and is self-centeredness any different than looking out for one's self and loved ones? If so is that wrong? It might be when doing so hurts society, especially if it directly hurts other people but who decides what that means? If it is the elite or any special interest group, we might want to evaluate their agenda or program, and when we do, we could find out that they are driven by the same forces as us a.k.a. sin and self-centeredness, and they want to "call the shots", which includes what is; good, evil or sinful.

My wife will be trying a new church this morning and I will go with her although I will probably come later than her since it's possible that the service is two hours long a.k.a. too long for me she said I can come under the after the music which she said I probably don't like anyway which may or may not be the case. So I wonder if the fate of at least the western world depends on how this family squabble works or doesn’t work out. Vikings settled all over northern Europe, the UK and Russia. Israelites moved up from the south into the same countries, and

Most of us feel good when we let somebody in line in front of us especially, when we're driving, but some peeps think you owe them big time when they let you in. % not

She hasn't made it plain that she has no use for me. Sometimes I wonder but usually think we agree that our mission's the most important thing. What is if she says? "Teamwork makes the dream work."👐💘☺

This as I climb on the couch, which I've covered with the shower curtain to spray paint around the vents. Maintenance, maintenance maintenance.

Walking past the bedroom where she's zooming with Laura Jean I hear laughter. Laura Jean seems more demure, sometimes almost tearful, I think…
But Robin is usually upbeat and positive.

"Still in my wheelhouse" and "not in my wheelhouse"… I keep hearing them. Funny thing is, autocorrect Siri recognizes it when you type “wheelh”, that’s probably faster than she used to☺.

“Brill cream, a little dab, will do you”… Jimmy Buffett. It reminds me that I didn't like dad's comb, which usually had a little balm and kinky hair on it.
Funny how kids are about things like that. I think it has to do with the complicated relationship between fathers and sons… I don’t think grandkids typically feel the same.

The human condition can be quite miserable especially when you look at old folks or poor folks, they deserve kindness and consideration
Being a. 67 yea old with his vision going and hemorrhoids coming I know this is a far cry from youth but seeing a loved one, can make all the difference.

Brill cream, a little dab, will do you Jimmy Buffett reminds me that I didn't like my dad's comb. It always seem to have something on it.
Funny how kids are about things like that I think it has to do with the relationship between a father and a son, which is an interesting though difficult one at times… I don’t think a grandkid would feel the same.
The human condition can be quite miserable especially when you look at old folks or poor folks, they all deserve kindness and consideration
Being one I should know
It's a far cry from youth
But seeing a loved one, can make all the difference
Visions going hemorrhoids coming
I have heard it said that when you have three Jewish people together, I mean two Jewish people together you'll have three opinions and what about if you just have two anybody people together you're going to have two opinions so the key is tolerating the other opinions

I wonder if the enlightenment of the founding fathers on the subject of religion was a reaction to the Salem witch trials
I wish people would drive more the way I want them to but it's a free country so they don't have to but maybe they could do a little better. As in a little more like how I'd like them to drive Less ketchup, the ketchup song I threatened to beat him with a bag of organic spinach
Boys and girls, men and women have a different set of problems, some of which are brought on by ourselves others, by others, or by society, and some by nature
Take note of things that make sense and things that don't and prioritize them
And heed warnings… they don't come in lots

I've heard people say that there's heaven on earth, and other people say that earth as hell I'm guessing it's not exactly either one
If you want to avoid that surgery on your hand, switch them frequently learn to use your left or you're right whichever is your opposite
Of course, heaven or hell on earth will vary from individual to individual depending on circumstances, etc. but there's always hope I think I've got an idea for a new business it's leaf removal and we work directly from the tree. We won't wait for them to fall off Ya Ya Ya is another version of blah blah blah. I'll stick with blah.
You're proud because you're doing God's work you say, but you only have the version of those that they didn't have killed in the process Constantine and the boys

And I think someone would do it again
They are the head chimps minions Not being a crocs in public guy I switched from them to the Adidas sandals
Sometimes, when people try to make things better, they make them worse especially for others, but sometimes even for themselves, and then a long run they could do both
I've read that there are more than 30,000 Christian denominations but I don't want to go to any of their Bible studies because I'm under the impression that if I say something that is in disagreement with them somebody or some of them will say very bad things if you know what I mean, it's just not my cup of tea
I knew pink could sing like that, but I didn't know she could sing me and Bobby McGee like that wow!
The same goes for Miley and these boots
Of course I knew that Patsy could Just a Closer Walk With Thee

Listening to our morning news, local they talk about somebody in the government warning about misinformation about finances and health information. I agree that some of what you hear on the mainstream news is truthful and useful, but believe much is not.
I think transsexuals, LGBTQ, etc. should have representation but not in ordinance or more than their numbers predict and this is I watch I am PD women behind the badge workshop a black woman cop, a white woman cop very pretty one presented both very presentable and then they interview some of the others who look pardon my friends like lesbians, and the two that are presented. I don't know, but I see a conflict between several groups even here. Black, white, lesbian, bisexual, trans , and straight they will all have their agendas.
Guess that the American way

It's all just symptoms of being human is the name of the song and it might crystallize everything I've written in the last 25 years
There are so many pretty girls out there most of them working hard a fair number of them struggling. And they have certain things in common, including I think that they want to have fun
I say that respectfully, and in all seriousness
Facebook stock meta-was down 4% today. Donald Trump says TikTok should not be banned because if it does it just makes Facebook stronger. I think TikTok should be banned and met given back to the Winklevoss twins who started Facebook.

I'm not saying some people are more superstitious than others. Just saying there bell curves between different groups in that respect. They may not vary much… but they vary🤔

Getting a haircut today after three months but won’t say, “see what you can do with this mop .” I don’t want to put additional pressure on Maria… starting today they only take cash💰

In addition to having eyes in the back of her head, I discovered recently that my wife can see through the shower door

I will cherish the Old Rugged Cross is playing Jerry Lee and Jimmy Lee, and I think I will promote the gospel, but not Constantine. I will promote the gospel. Historical not hysterical. And that doesn't mean claims or at least most of the claims aren't true… but I will avoid the zealots like the plague
Despite all my efforts, I still hit my funny bone😂

Time catches up with all of us and we don’t know what it is that will do us in. It might be sun damage. It might be tobacco, alcohol, poor nutrition, or things we’ve done wrong or done to others… sooner or later they’ll be a poison arrow😯.

The next song that popped up was Crystal Ship and Dick Clark said someone in the audience wanted to hear it… by coincidence that's the next song… “We'll meet again. We'll meet again” - Crystal ship.

Am my opinion, many of the world’s problems are connected to Bill Gates and some innovations are too, although these were mostly stolen what both categories have in common are maximization of hisprofits and agenda.
To make lions mane I don't need a steamer just a steamer because I've learned how to get rid of the green mold… I think

There are lots of pretty girls, and…

“ before you drift into unconsciousness, I’d like to have another kiss Quote… The doors slab
The attorney, whose 75-year-old wife seems to want to get rid of them and put them at the pasture or in a home may need legal representation. Apparently he uses notes and has other signs or dementia but it indicates to me that he’d get his ducks in a row or he’ll be put to pasture permanently. Not that using in Notes is such a great idea as it may contribute to more rapid increase in memory loss, but I don’t know that I do however, I am, however, trying to rely on my memory more than on Notes… and damn the torpedoes😂

Meanwhile, back at the ranch in South Dakota, March 13, 2024, governor Kristi Noem signs a “historic”, bill that apparently will be the “gold standard”, for language in about 30 other states at criminalizing antisemitism, so another protected class the LGBTQ and others of that ilk. I don’t understand it but I’m stupid after all everybody I know says to choose do everything right and loves them dearly… we are surely be becoming. the idiots our great grandparents warned us about.

Watching the Hang on Sloopy music video with Brad Pitt and beautiful Margaret Qualley, me thinks, my goodness she’s a rascal but she has to be. How else is “Pussycat”, going to get what she wants?

In my opinion, women have a unique set of "" problems, i.e. pregnancy, and then child rearing, which they often apparently have to do by themselves men on the other hand have no such excuse we simply have urges, some of which we find difficult to control. God help us God help them.

, we should be responsible more responsible
And accountable more accountable
Unless human nature changes which I doubt will ever happen, most changes should be voluntary. There should be fewer edits placed upon us. We should be advised by others, and take that into consideration, but not have things imposed on us as much as possible.
We've lived here over 30 years but I don't think I'm a Hoosier. I don't think you can be less you're born here. I've been drinking the water but I missed out on the Kool-Aid. Unfortunately I had some in Jersey. Change that to, however, I drank it in Jersey
One thing remains almost constant, the slower I do things faster they seem to get done

The economy band so people will blame who they told to blame not whose really causing them harm because they're the ones telling them who to blame and they believe them
An old friend put something on Facebook an old article about atheist being having higher IQs than religious people, and most of the comments he got from his friends agreed, although somebody disagreed and said so you're going to base that on a tabloid from 10 years ago? I will say that many of the fundamentalist I know are pretty smart and many people are bonehead of any elk and they are smart too.
Funny, how bonehead can be so smart
Funny how she said a number of times that if I did this, she would kick me to the curb. Sometimes she's laughing when she says it chuckling at least so I don't know if she means it or not but I do have experience.

And I don't find it very funny
Nor do I find it. Kind
She still a very good wife
We are a nation of laws, descended from English common law and Judeo Christian law. Unfortunately, we must have 1 million laws which is far more than our necessary.
Waiting at the light I saw young person passed by I'm not sure but I think it's a girl course. This is always been at least a minor problem but it's getting a little harder to tell even then it used to be.
This thing about the experience is amazing even how to put a large job object into a shopping cart benefits from having done it about 100 times if you're doing it for the first time you just might screw up or struggle.

Why do I like women so much? It's because they're beautiful and they're such rascals rascals in the way that a babies are rascals. Guys on the other hand I MO are neither beautiful nor rascals, instead we tend to be assholes. Caveat emptor we don't have to be jerks, but in the final analysis, extreme seriousness seems to go with leadership, civic responsibilities and the territory. More than half the population may strongly disagree and call me “names” but I believe we are usually the adults in the room (though just barely)…so why do us fellows keep shooting ourselves in the feet and screwing up so much? % showing off?

Women deserve equality, equal, opportunity, respect, and safety, all of which are open to interpretation, and if not mutually agreed-upon by both or all parties involved cannot be effectively achieved, guaranteed, or maintained. On a related note, their wisdom is vast, but we mustn’t capitulate to their demands. We should instead negotiate their requests.., after all, there are so many monkey ranches built into the systems.

The PTB may pat themselves on the back for the success of certain western countries but may have decided they can do just as well with people from anywhere, and low IQ peeps may be even a bit easier to “manage”, via bread, circus and propaganda.

A friend told me about podcasts where the authors suggest we have had aliens captured, confined and studied there for decades. There are different types that speak different languages apparently telepathically. It makes me wonder about angels in the Bible. We probably didn’t have the technology and weaponry to capture them back then if in fact, there’s any connection with angels or for that matter demons etc. aka good guys and bad guys?

Could the powers and principalities in the heavens be aliens who seeded earth with human beings of different races, or DNA profiles, and who would like to see their folks succeed over the others? This, in my opinion, all being present, over by the omnipotent God of the infinite Multiverse

When I say, I think that fundamentalist are dangerous, I don't this mean religious I mean scientific or any other kind as well and in both cases, it's only a very small percentage who are in interminably, potentially violent, although every human has potential for violence and disaster

The babies already learned that it doesn't hurt to ask and that's a good thing but it would be good for him to also learn that "you can't always get what you want but if you try sometime, you just might find you get what you need"… The Rolling Stones

I squabbled gently with my sister yesterday on the phone about me sending a text to the family thread at three in the morning. I thought everybody had their nighttime settings on, but was wrong. It was like old times - just a friendly little squabble, the kind people apparently need from time to time… I said I'm sorry several times and all seemed to be fine afterwards. ♡

Love is a Battlefield. Pat Benatar song says it's just right hadn't heard it in years…

Richard Medhurst… apparently a Christian of Syrian and British extraction how different his views are from the Republican Christian right.

With all due respect, I rarely hear women talking outside of the box but I don't know that much about what they do talk about. In my limited experience, they seem to talk more about their own set of serious; issues, concerns, causes and problems. It’s a bell curve and almost as many men also seem content with rote beliefs… maybe such peeps are right???

I saw a bald eagle on 56 street today. I think it landed on an apartment building.
You can say that I've used the heck out of you and I can say you've used the heck out of me and we both might be right or at least partially right but hopefully it's been for a good cause
A good and agreed-upon cause
I can't for a minute imagine saying if you did that I'd kick you to the curb that would start World War III. It's a double standard and yes, there are double standards on both sides and that's one of them.
It's not on the same level as that thing I've heard about there are things you can say that you can never take back, but it certainly is not something we should say to each other. Kick you to the curb I mean

My wife and I and my daughter and I I believe we're on the same team but because of these differences in gender were either on different squads or one on offense, one on defense with the dream of making it to the goal post.
Change it to crossing the finish line
We're doing Vibar exercises in the tub to any good

I find it interesting that I have had several thousand clicks Internet Archive writing but that doesn't mean they went beyond clicks to views , but somebody is seeing something but who?

I can’t think of any female politicians admire, and only think of one male politician I admire, but they’re probably more of both.

There are different value systems around the world and amongst different religions but peeps are probably “basically” the same. That doesn’t mean that minor differences “caused” by DNA are irrelevant.

As far as pyramids already vote, it is the most ridiculous concept I have ever heard of if you don’t contribute, but only take from the taxpayer and society why should you have a vote?

Watching the commercial for the new Silverado, it looks like it has a large almost massive touchscreen, but I heard the resort is probably because we don't make them here. Can you imagine American men and women assembling those things? Apparently it's not going to happen anymore and that is why mass occur in the economy. The elites are trying to alleviate it with immigrant labor, but that presents his own set of problems.

Footage shows the Ukrainian countryside riddled with craters from artillery shells. I suppose it's mostly localized and I think about how that might compare to nuclear war. Devastation would be different in appearance, and there'd also be the enormous problem of radioactive fallout, spreading far and wide killing many more.

My wife is not perfect, but maybe she is perfect for me this, despite the ups and downs we have had. I try not to engage in arguments with her because she is purpose built for them, sharp tongue, etc. women in general seem to excel in these verbal "arts" men are better and fighting physically, although competency varies tremendously for men and considerably for women, when it comes squabbles and hen-pecking. which they have with men, and amongst themselves. i've heard women refer to his honey badgers. The analogy is not without some merit.

They both go for the you know what plus the law is inordinately on the side of women these days.

I'm definitely not saying that we should be elitist or that smart people should run everybody's lives. I know I talk about low IQ people, but society is basically designed for them anyway in many respects, and if they can't even do that, or if smart people can't even do basic stuff that is made easy for us because we're; foolish, lackadaisical, following scoundrels, charlatans or whatever then we/they should have only very limited access to government taxpayer funded freebies. % There's no shortage of grifters out there, of every race, religion,color and creed - and though I have no right to judge them, we have the right to defund them.

The human body is designed to break down overtime. You can compensate one way or another to prolong certain abilities and functions, but there may be unintended consequences. If I press the remote buttons with my left pointer I may be able to use it longer but my left wrist will deteriorate, if I use my pointer instead I may be able to use it longer but I have to twist my wrist awkwardly, causing excess wear, so no matter what we try the trajectory is downward.

Had another ocular migraine two nights ago, where the peripheral vision on the left side of my left eye appears to melt making it useless. It's time to start eating like a grown-up, because it seems to be related to high sugar desserts… need those like a hole in the head! % Hope it's not too late.

Tomorrow is the total eclipse, Salt Creek is just few miles from the epicenter in Nineveh. Robin found an article suggesting we shouldn't watch it even with eclipse glasses - I will abide… want to keep what

Since I don't know where we came from or where we're going, I'll try to be a gentleman, not a boss.

Some peeps are more natural than others. That doesn't mean they're animal like or dumber, although they might be, but it means they're more in tune with mother nature. They may "more instinctively" know how to woo, make love and do this and that. Those of us at the other end of the spectrum can learn from them… with all due respect we can learn from everyone and everything including beasties.

She wondered out loud why the man in the movie pee'd from the side of the john stead of the front. It's not a secret and as an older guy, I can relate but it brings to mind that the sexes have secrets.

Some kids'll do anything for candy and ice cream, and that's dam scary… protect them!!!

Women have many secrets, many insecurities, many abilities and they should run their own lives. Everyone should, as well as be responsible for those decisions. Men have secrets and securities and abilities to, and first and foremost, should protect the ability to cultivate them, in fact, it's time to get off the couch and mitigate the erosion.

I'm starting to feel an urgency to get things done. I've already lived longer than one of my grandfathers and one of my great grandfathers. I'm not sure about the other one.

We need to get off the couch it might take five or 10 seconds, or it might take one minute for most people. No hurry, but do it if it takes longer than one minute it shouldn't take longer than one minute unless you have a disability if it takes much longer than that, you may need assistance, but get off the couch.

YouTube voice recognition mistake of the morning instead of "I'm your Venus", it says, "I'm your fetus" feet… Siri added "feet"… here's another one punches Pontius Pilot, is punches Pontius octopus. % Ahh

- AI at work!

"Paul was a very educated man, he sat at the feet of Galileo"… Bishop H.
% that's what I heard… not Gallio.

As I watch the CEO spout about their next move and all the great things I'm doing I'm glad to remember that God has a mechanism built into humans so that we can tell when each other are telling the truth or not the CEO blinks accidentally after each lie… I'm pretty sure that even psychopaths do this. Apparently the blink reflex is connected to the brain's lie detector, and even if it isn't always directly related to a lie, it may be related to angst or similar emotions.

Struggling with a bad attitude this morning after getting on Eftps, having to change my password for the 17th time, I shouldn't take it out on anyone tomorrow's Easter!

I think of the Russians as the Vikings who went east, and the Brits, France, Germans, etc. and even Americans as descendants of the Vikings who went west. The last several hundred years the west has been the "best", but many now say we're entering at least a century where Asia will be the ascending region and that may give Russia an advantage.

Do we have a choice to be free or to be worker bees or minions by the millions? I think we do what about you?

Tomorrow is Easter. We're cleaning house. To me it may seem excessive but she just wants it to look good. It doesn't have to be perfect but it is important to her that it looks like she manages a well run house… after all our in-laws are coming over. I go down to the basement to get a table and chairs. I should vacuum, but it is only the basement.

She may want the rocking chair put away, which means upstairs but I won't ask. Maybe I'll get lucky but have to remember I'm living with a full-grown woman, a.k.a. honey badger .

Don't compel others to pay for charity for people that go to the food pantry in a Mercedes-Benz, or spend inordinate amounts of money on; hair, shoes, clothes, cars etc, while others look for bargains. You don't have to be a genius to maximize your income, but whether you're High IQ or low if you game the system and expect to be rewarded, then people who want to reward you should do so but leave the rest of the taxpayers alone.

What is God? I don't know, but I am guessing wildly, guessing or maybe not so wildly that God is masculine in nature. I don't think God is a committee, and I think that God is incomprehensible to any of us, including those anxious or in any case willing to give us a description… authorized or otherwise.

Regarding family members, we can be too hard on each other or too easy, it's hard to get it just right. Good luck!

The thing about your heart is you want it to work without you even know that it's there, so when you get older and you start getting chest willies it can be bothersome. It's kind like when your car starts clanking….

No country and its leaders wants a nuclear war unless they "know", they will win. That was us in World War II and I believe it was the wrong thing to do. Today it may be impossible to know you will win but it will be possible to think you will win, and I think that would be wrong too.

I appreciate that my wife keeps the floors clean enough to sit on almost clean enough to eat off of, so maybe I'll take up yoga in the meantime I still hide things like when I cut the grass which hasn't been for a long time I kind of skimp on the areas she doesn't see, and I just did the same thing with the floor After cutting my toenails.

There are some things I maybe shouldn't bring up one is that looking at the Hemet damage band of Germany I see light haired and dark haired, Germans, I suppose, and I wonder where their DNA came from were Romans forcing themselves on German women. There were probably voluntary unions all over the world too which spread, combined and disseminated distant or adjoining DNA's's.

Russia claims that they are being walled in by NATO and they might be right an alternative explanation is that under the guise of that, the Russian elites led by Putin, want the orthodox church to prevail over western churches and rule the world I have no idea if either of these are true…Or partially true

I keep hearing that we could stop Israel's “bombardment" of Gazza with a phone call. I'm not sure if that's true, but if we did, might that derail prophecy, and therefore be highly unlikely to occur?

If there are powers and principalities, keeping track of things around here, I imagine we're providing a good deal of entertainment.

Women are the nurtures of babies, children and grown-ups.,, men are second best.

Strange bedfellows, another example of how adversaries align might be Russian and Ukrainian women. They’re likely to differ strongly on the war but on social issues they might be on the same page… congruent to that, men from both countries might too. % Yet they’re at war over “other things”

We're going back to the theory that if you are weak, you will be conquered or there's a real good chance of it unfortunately, for the Indians, they were weak although individually, they may have been strong.

Does Israel have a right to exist as a Jewish state? I’d say they have as much right as any other religious state. I just wouldn’t wanna live in one.

As a gripe about GPS, I reconsider that it’s is a lot better than a map, and I wouldn't like to go back to that anymore than to a landline.

As I put my shirt on at the red light and my seatbelt chimes because I've taken it off. I wonder if eventually the insurance companies or government will know that you've done this and penalize you. Will there be demand for a society where you're not surveilled and monitored all the time?Would the price for that be that you wouldn't be protected from yourself and others who make such “casual mistakes.” Casual but sometimes life-threatening Mistakes.

Men have performance issues, women have condition issues.

I don’t even know if Jesus is or was everything he said he is or was, but that doesn’t mean he can’t be my intermediary to God…. At least that’s how I see it, because he was the most bonafide Christ. I don’t know if he walked on water or raised the dead. Hopefully it was real, but in any case, the words he spoke that were amazing and original… at least I think they were.

What will I tell you
When you ask me why I'm crying?
Will I point above
At the Red Tail gracefully soaring
Or down to below where its prey
Is quietly trembling? Red Tail above my head quietly soaring…
Water turns from ice, creek is roaring
He says enough of all this shit, I am going Cowboy Junkies slab

A problem with immigration is that there are hundreds of millions of peeps who’d like to come and they have higher birth rates, lower IQs and frequently different values than the original pilgrim pioneer colonist my peeps who, you say we're so terrible and in someways were.

Jesus is in my opinion the gold standard, but not sure I believe He's the God of the universe, of course it doesn't matter a bit what I think.

Audra Miller is singing “Frustrated” by Avril Lavigne. The song’s about a guy making a gal frustrated and it makes me think that no matter what, your gal’s gonna be frustrated about something - so be nice but not ridiculous. Generally speaking, I'd rather watch Audra, than the original.

The thing about Bible study is if you ask tough questions you're expected to accept the same old answers… reminds me of "Constantine's policy"… "arising from a debate that should not have been aired. It was neither right to ask about such things, nor to answer when asked"… Paul, Stephenson

When driving, the "kids" think we're codgers and we think they're punks… can't we all just get along .

In heaven, do you get cuts and bruises, or cause everyone's a spirit is that irrelevant? Guessing if you do, they don't fester.

Here's another "nutshell"; follow George Washington's advice in his farewell address that's politics. Regarding spirituality/religion do your own research and follow the dictates of your conscience, realizing that it's; flawed, imperfect, and can never have enough information, but follow it, not them.

Was Annalena Baerbock a circus performer. Zelensky was an actor. Macron of France was a theater student. Trudeau of Canada was a drama teacher, bareback or hardback from Germany, was wrote children's books. Biden was a grifter, put them all together and you have the leaders of the west oh, and Boris Johnson was some kind of clown.
So the lambs book of God that has everybody's name in it that is written in the book and we'll go to heaven that sounds like some kind of artificial intelligence or mass surveillance program but if it's the god of the infinite universes that is behind it, I'm all for it Watching if I had a heart fever, Ray harp, twins, and Volvo gang twins I see four very attractive people, beautiful music, and singing. In my opinion they all have elevated shoes they're not short peeps they're just regular height, and I enjoy it! Also, wonder are they romantically involved and the fellas looks so serious is that part of the show or part of the persona and if so, how would that affect any relationship relationships long-term?

The scenery is beautiful

Watching the two sets of twins. I'm reminded that our daughter will go for an ultrasound today to see if that's what she's going to have.

I also wonder if the guys ever get to sing… Or talk? Guessing they do Penny Johnson, YouTuber teaser influences are coming to Jesus revival Joe Rogan we need Jesus …This is both good and bad in my opinion.

As A. Blinkin departed the jet plane, I noticed his security detail seemed to have beards and mustaches. They didn't look like the usual, clean shaven Aryans…

Bloomberg says they'll tell you what you need to know for the trading day ahead or is that what they want you to know?
I'd still rather not mention the biggest elephant in the room
But I'm watching Let's Work Together by Canned Heat
Watching the cast Loys sing man of constant sorrow they're very pretty and they're very talented and I wonder what it's like for women to be judged on looks and valued so much for sex and less for other things and whose fault is it man's or nature?
Getting back to the Jaime damage band from Germany and looking at their features. I see that they are Aryan, but Arian must've been influenced by elsewhere I think India?
I think they tell you to pray audibly to Jesus even though I'm told he already knows what we're thinking. At least I think I'm told that I will do it both ways.
Jesus, I think you know what I'm thinking now
And I hope that it's OK
I hear the mainstream media and others talk about autocrats and dictators specifically Putin and they're probably right, but our autocrats always bad. For example, when Jesus is reportedly going to come back and rule with a rod of iron, what would they say about that? Or do I have that Bible verses wrong?
I'm probably closest to a protestant, but not quite there because they were allowed to protest, but I don't think they are anymore. They are hook line and sinker and maybe they always were.

Regarding our family, I think we're pretty good folks and regarding our population hold" I think they're good folks to
I think we've been misguided and misdirected, however for a very long time
And I do have questions, despite the fact that, since at least Henry the eighth, we've been railroaded
Hyper individuality well, that's something for sure but who's going to judge that unless you're breaking societies laws, but there are laws in there are Morray
The preacher said it may not be blasphemed or slandered what is at steak here. He said he said it is the honor of God. Well, I wonder if this is not some guy and not God some guy like Constantine for example, Henry the eighth various popes and other holy rollers, trying to get your goat.
The previous pastor on the radio also said and God sent Jesus well I thought Jesus was God so I guess you could say God sent himself or there's some cute confusion and a bit about miracles walking on water, etc. for me if anything those stories lessen the authenticity, although I do believe in a historic Jesus, and that he is enough for me
If you need a Jesus who walks on water and does other things that seem magical and you called the miraculous then that's fine
I still wonder what would happen if you put Jesus Mohammad Buddha, Confucius in the same room
After just two minutes on the religious channel, I'm back to Bloomberg, which I don't love, but I'd rather find out how the stocks are doing then listen to the message that I'm hearing from the religious channel at the moment
You say you are worried about your grandchildren, eternal souls, so you want them to fight for your religious beliefs I'm more concerned about their earthly existence let them decide about their eternal souls, and what direction to take religiously I think you were more interested and your eternal soul, and may be your 401(k)
You've already convinced a great many of them that it's time to go out and kill people far far away. I hope they change their minds.

I'm all for a strong defense, but I realize that there are some who consider a strong offense their best defense so I'm for a really strong defense… in all theaters of life.

Worrier and warrior… just a letter apart .

“I think Zelensky‘s days are numbered. I think he’s just not as good a puppet as he used to be. As cute as he is in olive drab. I think they’re looking for someone who can do a little better job of acting”…
Lt. Colonel Anthony Shaffer

With the help of ghostwriter and researcher Jacqueline Salmon,[1] Shaffer published memoirs of his time as a reports officer in Afghanistan in book titled Operation Dark Heart. The Defense Department bought and destroyed 10,000 copies of the book's first, uncensored run, before allowing the release of a second, censored printing with redactions on approximately 250 pages.[11]

Beautiful women are a function of nature, nurture, and Noxzema a.k.a. make up

“Women, they will come and they will go
When the rain washes you clean, you'll know”… Fleetwood Mac lyrics by Stevie Nicks what was she talking about? Slab?
Surprisingly , many things that I’ve heard that are unsupportive of women, or maybe just mysterious to me were penned by women… the other things have come to mind, are staying there .

On those occasions that I look put together or decent, I would credit my dad and my wife. Dad wanted to look dapper and worked at it, even though he was colorblind. My wife has always had a good sense of style… my mom and my wife - natural beauties!

Certain abilities are a function of mentality and physicality. For example, potty training a child, or a senior retaining continence require conscious effort and physical control. I know a baby and a grown-up dealing with the above… I hope they succeed .

Some of my people have that Viking blood they want to go places to do things and conquer people… they say with love. % But conquer nonetheless.

It seems to me that in many countries, zealots of one kind or another be they; religious, green or technocrat, they probably have undue influence over the affairs of a nation. Maybe a strong constitution could control them, but they tug almost violently at our; emotions, superstitions and spiritual heartstrings to get their way.

Hate to say it but “cheery”, as she is, me thinks PBS’s a bonehead on multiple levels.

I agree there should be no cruel and unusual punishment that doesn't mean there might not be situations were cruel, punishment or unusual punishment is appropriate. For example, a horrific murderer could be cruel, put to death, not bizarrely, but cruel if you consider hanging firing squad, etc. cruel and unusual could be the toilet brush treatment for the oligarchs, etc..
If it ever came to it, would I ever get married again? Sometimes I say surely I would other times I say surely I wouldn't.
This morning, as I like being married Mostly, I'd rather listen to a Mushroom than a man, especially one who says he knows everything. I think it's more likely God would use the shrew, then a person
And I'm not necessarily talking about magic mushrooms. In fact, I'm probably not at least not anymore for me.
One reason that I click on Skip commercial and if it's going to be 15 or 20 seconds I hit the back button is because when I come back it may only be five seconds, but even if it isn't, it should be shorter and maybe I'll miss the stupid advertisement

Unfortunately, the YouTube that it's leading to might be just as stupid
I feel for women because they are regarded often as sex objects, but do they feel for us because we are often regarded as meal tickets? Of course, both of these things are stereotypes, but there's truth to them.
I won't say it's a fact, but I'll say it's a notion that these are ancient in historical roles but I also won't say that that's what we should do but I will say there's nothing wrong with it
Husband and wife, male and female traditional roles are still valuable and viable although yes, I agree they needn't be exclusive
As I stomp around the house this morning, I have to keep telling myself to slow down. I'm not trying to take over the world that may be the American way, but it's not mine.
Regardless, it's still hard to slow down. It's so ingrained to compete.
And it's normal natural, but it shouldn't be taken to such extremes
Let's throw a little Buddha and Gandhi in there, although they were probably competitive too Hungry like the wolf Duran Duran start me up the stones come to mind after that thought
The worlds on edge and our guest is wondering if clouds will obscure the solar eclipse Listening to the political geopolitical and business news of the nation and world. I wonder what might come first a revolution or a Civil War or this plane war big time perhaps
As I drive to the Quote kids, house to help move the washing machine I keep telling myself slow down slow down there's no hurry then the tire light turned yellow and red, which reinforces my subconscious desire to get there on time
Then I get to the next red light high school Road and I have to decide should I wait for it go to Lafayette and turn right or should I turn right here? It's a little more awkward but it might be faster I decide to wait.
Good morning son is in my eyes so I have the visor down. I can't see when the light would turn green. I'll wait for the pick up truck next to me to go behind me. It looks like a Mustang or a Challenger but he's not tailgating surprise.
As we turn right on Lafayette Road, the Challenger, or at least Stellantis waste, no time in rumbling past me
The simple joy of driving
Then I have to get in the left-hand lane to get on 65 south, but there's a line in front of me and my car is butt sticks out in the other lane. I'm at risk. I'm getting my rear end clipped McKenzie, by Houndmouth is playing and an EV is passing me it's a Rivian the second one I've seen in two days I let the car the other car a jeep passed me because they had their blinker on first before I get in the passing lane

Thought about texting Ross to let him know. I'm on my way, but that's just one more thing for him to have to address as he drives the little one to his folks.
And with that last remark, I hope I'm done for a while
After all I'm driving, I should pay attention
When the dogs begin to smell her, will she smell alone Stone Temple Pilots slab?
It's the same old thing they try hard to look pretty for themselves and others or they're just beautiful to begin with and we're hardwired to notice
I passed the homeless camp. I can hear somebody hammering building some kind of structure I suppose.
I hope she's there because she's a pretty little thing boy would I like to dabble in that. Of course I wouldn't

I picked up another Sylvia Brown book. This one is about a psychic life on the other side but I'm gonna return some of the other ones of hers that I bought generally speaking she's kind of wacky but I do want to get her perspective. She's a Jewish Christian background.
Some people are critical of you reading books like this and I also picked up the essential Quran by Thomas Cleary translation, and a book on Gandhi called peace, but I think that, even though we're not supposed to read these if we're Christians, that is just a mechanism to keep us in line and a darn effective one
Then behind me is tailgating it looks like a tradesmen. Maybe he's running late I don't care. I am not going to endanger myself or other drivers by facilitating his bad driving he should've laughed earlier or told his customer to be patient or whatever.
It reminds me of people who drive I mean who do stupid things in general they don't look for bargains they buy the $200 pair of Nikes

when they can't afford it and then they expect society to pay for their this that the other thing I don't feel much for them either
On a box it's Cornell singing doesn't remind me of anything
This side of town is a little rougher than where I come from. Reminds me of Wilson school versus other parts of summit. We were from the wimpy side and it showed.
As I maneuver through the construction zone at 70 miles an hour and try to select a radio station or a song but my display is malfunctioning. It makes me realize the limits of technology, how unsafe they can be, and how great it would be if artificial intelligence and Hardware truly worked the way they're supposed to.
There are more things that I can say about women they are intimate things that I've learned over the years but out of respect for their privacy I will not because the man upstairs already knows, and the ladies don't want the rest of us to learn it that's fine with me. At least I think they don't want us to know
Although I sometimes sound like I'm hard on my fellow man I do agree with what Jesus said. I'm paraphrasing but things like we are all in this together we are all brothers and sisters that I believe is true we are all part of the human family and the human family is part of the family of God's creation in general but I still don't want to give away the farm to Scaff laws
I got winded after 20 minutes on the stationary bike yesterday. It seems like I get most of my exercise getting in and out of the car and walking to the Goodwill, store and back.
My fines today are a God bless America sign, framed with a picture of the flag Statue of Liberty, me, and couple of candlesticks and a discourage, if not for bidden book
So far, no sound bar or high tops
And one reason I don't feel a great deal of sympathy for those who waste money time everything is because you don't have to be a rocket scientist to live better than that. If you're going to be a painter, then that's your problem and if you refuse to listen not to me, but to all kinds of people that could get you on a better path than I think it's on you not on society all we owe you is respect, equal opportunity, but not a free ride.
And that is Pinter not painter
I'm not saying stone people are thrown out of helicopters. I'm just saying, don't give them a free ride.

When the Israelites entered the promised land of Canaan, or whatever there are reports in the Bible of genocide, how did that work out for them in the in the 3000 years since they have been persecuted, but they have kept up that behavior until this day how will it turn out for them this time?
There is science there is an infinite universe. They're all kinds of possibilities, and in my opinion there is an incomprehensible, omnipotent God in charge and creator of all of it, that I will never understand and those wrote these books. I wonder if they really did or not.
So are great people kind people Gandhi, for example burning in hell, and Christians, like the black and tans who oppressed the people of India and Ireland and Churchill who sent them. Are they all in heaven wearing crowns or is it more nuanced than that? And don't forget the black and tans next went to Palestine after Ireland, according to some reports, and continued their brutality there
We've been warned for decades, feed your head the white knife has been talking backwards forever, and the red queen been on her head so remember what the doorbell said
I have two church affiliations, the one I support financially, and the one I'd like to
One I attend occasionally with my wife, the other I think about all the time or at least on Sundays
I'm putting less and less faith in economic and financial forecasters because it seems they're all either trying to sell something we're working for the government and wanting to keep their jobs
Feel the heel if there's a hole darn it or if it's too big recycle
I'd usually throw them away but this one I'm gonna take to the shop
For all I know it could be just not just but another personality called as the Romans initially said, but I'll still put my faith in him and his message unless proven otherwise… I see him as head, and maybe shoulders above the rest of them
This, in spite of the quacks, charlatans and wackos that have attached themselves to him, and claimed his mantle for themselves
I feel like I've learned a lot in life and as I get older, I hope I can retain it, but it may not matter matter because as a junk food junkie, I may not be around long enough for that
I'm going to try to change my Waze
The human body is incredible, including the sexual organs and the response. The mail is simple straightforward. The females is quite as extraordinary, but perhaps a little more perplexing, and requires more skill to activate as far as I know.

My God and nature have made a mistake to make man stronger than woman physically anyway?
There are so many transcription mistakes from Siri that I will be editing for days. I can do no more than try for a B minus C+.
Watching Lucy, Thomas's whiter shade of Tail . She is so beautiful, but there is a lot of makeup on her face and the ballerina also is beautiful but she's standing on her tiptoes the whole time both are unreal conditions.
Dennis White rabbit the next video the one from Alice in Wonderland beautifully young girl, but it was posted by a gay man once again irony, perhaps Earlier, I watched Venus by shocking, purple and then saw the before and current after of their beautiful singer… Yikes I'm sorry it's just a bit unfair
By driving only for a beer or see some of these thoughts that I thought were pretty good, become entirely mundane, they need some work
Then it's iron maiden run to the hills covered by 1st to 11 and Audra Miller. Very cool and very cruel what it recounts but I've just seen something about the Comanche and Sarah Plum that was very cruel to these things happen over and over again we just keep resorting to violence on both sides. Are we still just chimpanzees? Will somebody come from the heavens and straighten us out once and for all God, I hope so!
Going back to Meen, physically stronger, maybe being mistakes that should be changed to having greater upper body strength
At euchre there would be no messages no preaching there would be music and there would be silent prayer and if you want to speak in tons, that's great too and you can discuss things amongst yourselves
I'm married to a full grown and living with a full grown woman, so there's certain things I have to do like pick up my clothes straighten things up right now I'm putting the deodorant on the dresser where it belongs… second choice for a roomie would be a dog, third a cat and fourth a man.

It's Saturday morning and she's on her computer, preparing for a job interview telemedicine it would be Here's one for you in the future a neural link person meets a cryonics person. How would they get along Patty each other on the back or would they both be dead? Or is it either even possible?
In addition to listening to what smart, well-behaved people say, watch what they do and emulate that you'll learn a lot even if they don't tell you what they're doing
Conversely, ignore what bonehead say and do they will lead you a stray
Fortunately or not my workshop is not her normal place so I don't have to keep it so neat
It's off her beaten track
Are you bringing me a message from the other side Kacey Musgraves song cardinal about her friend John Prine who passed away a couple years ago meanwhile, I'm thanking God that the car in front of me is turning right because the reflection from their mirror is blinding me
And just a minute later on 56 street I'm pretty sure I saw the bald eagle again this time soaring
Then it's R.E.M.'s this one goes out to the one I love and the car in front of me is turning right I'll slow down it looks like a compact late model car so they can probably do it pretty good but there is a car on my left lane in the blind spot and I won't be able to switch to that one if I need to

One son caught me using the outhouse, a.k.a. that particular corner the other ones coming over and since his nose is as sensitive as a bloodhounds if I use the inside out house, I'll have to use extra water

There are still some things that make me think I have desert blood

since I was a child I have not liked really cold water ice cream hurt my teeth I would request warm water but I think I was just being silly but now I still don't like really cold water And I am frugal to a fault in some areas that could be scotch heritage that 3% Jewish heritage, or just being out in the desert where resources are scarce … genetically and otherwise.

Case in point; I am taking Swanson Lutine in the form of blue light protection gummy's. They are rich in looting and mango but the gummy's are covered with granulated sugar so I soaked them to get that off, and I swallowed them instead of chewing them since Robin said it's bad for your teeth, it's kind of a pain to do but they were on sale five dollars versus about $15 for some similar small capsules from Kroger. I will not buy them again despite the savings it's too inconvenient to swallow them as the water dribbles down my chin.

Today I hope to find time to do a little reading on Constantine and Sylvia Brown's book about a psychic visiting in the other side, which I take with the huge grain of salt, and also to edit the journal and to make another shelf out of a one dollar scrap from Lowe's Puter, of course.

I intend to use text messages to myself less frequently as that transcription process, results, and things that within a day or two are difficult even for me to decipher

"Patriotism, is when love for your own people comes first, nationalism is when hatred of other people comes first"… Charles de Gaulle

The talented ten can apply to anything I agree that no one should starve and no child should go hungry but those who adults who put themselves in that position through negligence, ignorance, foolishness, etc. sit in someway payback society for feeding housing clothing them and I agree that we should not be the judge of who the negligent are that is God department but we should not ignore what we see anymore than if we witness a murder crime,, we shouldn't ignore what we've seen or allow someone to tell us it wasn't a crime, we should report it and demand accountability.
We should also consider what Jesus said about always having the poor amongst us, and there are efforts to offer them a hand up (not always a handout), which might mean we address the root causes without attacking in a literal sense, way, the perpetrators around the world of poverty… in that regard, we may defer to George Washington's advice that Americans do not slay monsters abroad… at home it might be another story.

I polished off the almond milk as a creamer base then added ripple, looked at it and thought it probably wouldn't be tasty enough but tried it. It will do and I will be saving on the expensive ripple by not adding anymore… and saving on a few calories. Just wondering arterio just a more convenient form of rolled out or being a processed food are they not as good? and now they say all oats are contaminated with the dangerous pesticide what's a body to do?

Am I writing because I have something to say or because I have verbal diarrhea?

Regarding the terrorist attack at the crocus concert venue in Russia two days ago, Zelinski and Putin blame each other. I think they are both liars so I don't know who to believe but one or both of them might know what really happened.

I switch from YouTube to live TV and catch the last 10 seconds of Gerald Fleury on the key of David not nearly enough to know what he was talking about but I peruse their magazine yesterday. The only local news is wish TV, which like all the channel offers its own slant on things, being black owned, wish TV's claim to fame is there emphasis on "equity and inclusion", i'm hardly aka not impressed, but they do have a couple of babes a pretty anchorwoman . As far as international news, it's pretty much the same corporate line as everyone else.

They're interviewing a guy named Goodrich, who is running for US Senate. As far as I know, they all have the same positions on the Middle East so I'm not inclined to do anything but write n an alternate candidate he looks at the interviewer then he looks at the camera he's been practicing. The ticker on my phone can tell me today's weather. I will go to the garage which I have been warming up and fiddle fart around until Robin wakes up .

If you ask, who do I love more my mom or my dad I'd say the same and then you'd say that's a compound and say well I love them differently. This is a love that differently, and I love ours differently but equally.

Girls just want to have fun Cyndi Lauper said and I think she's right because they have such an impossible job but then ours isn't that easy either. I heard a gal who I think pretty much had things together although she may have been struggling say that all women are little nuts. She also said she was perfect perfect she was smiling when she said it and she walked through the bar. she was one of those natural beauties, but she probably wore spanks, and women are all incredible right down to their high heels.

I don't suppose for a minute that it's easy or comfortable to be judged mostly on appearance and "related things." Maybe that's why so many women enter other arenas where they work hard and often achieve great things… Cabrini like.

Just as we don't require geniuses to run our government and by

our lives, we certainly don’t want morons running them either.

Unfortunately both seems to be happening.

I believe in what MLK said about peoples content of character being perhaps the most important thing, and I believe in judging everyone, individually men, women, etc. people have all races and to use the same criteria measuring stick for all when uncle said something about so-and-so people have no soul I wonder if he meant they just don’t have soul as in musical ability but when I hear them, they sure sound like they do.

I suppose it should be no surprise that I recognized the girl working at the grocery store by her behind
And her coworker
It reminds me of traveling Riverside blues when he says I see my rider I know we're in the dark
I like playing in the sand what's mine is ours cause it doesn't remind me of anything Audioslave Chris Cornell so if you're going to mark your own drummer, are you automatically going to be a hypocrite and narcissist they'll say you are
Your best chance of not being those things, according to the powers that be used to be a cog in their wheel
I believe in God fervently and have nothing against any church, but I believe in God, a little bit more like the founding fathers not exactly, and no wood would only very few would call them heathens I think I believe in God fervently and have nothing against any church, but I believe in God, a little bit more like the founding fathers not exactly, and no wood would only very few would call them heathens I think Lyons Maine for Tyler you can think of movie is good with you
you can think a movie is good without liking it Siri's transcription ability in the car is much worse, or at least worse than her ability when we're standing still makes me wonder about AI and cars in general. It might still be a while before we can drive to

Florida autonomously
As I complain about the people in my life, who've had me by the short hairs, which has been pretty much going on since I grew them smile I clean the toilet. It is Sunday morning after all, and I think about how I'd like to show the oligarchs how to do it, and compel them to. I can show them how it’s another thing you can do left-handed, which they should know all about.
I'm reaching the age where friends are passing away, or in the case of Bill, going into hospice for dementia at the ripe young age of 68 I believe another one it's entered. My sphere after decades is Frenchy, a.k.a. Michael from Wayback One both of them got me out of pinches. It's very sad about Bill and Michael looks like he's doing OK. Saw a picture of him sitting at the bar reminded me of one with Humphrey, Bogart, James Dean, Marilyn Monroe.
As I walk out to the garage with my inside croc shoes on, I decide to leave them on and let them get a little dirty. It's tedious to take them off every time I go into the garage garage and come back. The few germs probably won't hurt. Robin really keeps the floor clean, clean enough to sit on almost clean enough to eat off of.
But I forgot the nitro gloves after all this rest, removers serious stuff. I will open the window though.
I walk out to the garage and stand at the stairs. Trying to remember what I came out here for. Oh yeah, nitro gloves I think I'll buy lions mane for everybody on their birthday. Think I'll do it right now.

Before I forget
I might tell Sonny that the lions may may synergize the pot or A preferably replace it. He's probably learned all he can from the ladder.
Living with the full grown woman can be difficult, but I prefer that to living with a full grown man or any other type
I will not get into what difficulties arise, because even talking about them will make will compound them
Robin said do you want this bread that's been sitting on the microwave overnight it was like a crouton it was so hard I thought to myself I need that bread like a hole in the head that rhymes

I put the gnocchi and the egg rolls in the glass dish. The plastic top had a crack so I was going to put wax paper between them gonna microwave it anyway we have no shortage but I can't find any at the store sometimes.

Decided to go with the eggrolls and gnocchi, because the soups all had so much salt!
Will put the plastic container from the egg rolls in the recycle bag. I know it's called virtual, signaling by many I will call it being in solidarity. I didn't rinse it out and I didn't rinse out the nut butter jar that I put in there yesterday figure that'll burn off anyway. As far as metal cans, I won't recycle them for the time being I figure they get those with a magnet cardboard I don't know

I know those were much different times, but that's not necessarily a reason for a pass

With due respect, I take it all seriously but not all literally. Regarding absolute, truthfulness and inerrancy that’s personal.

Putin made the point that it is NATO that is moving towards their borders not the other way around… the Russians do not harbor any aggressive intentions towards any NATO state"… Alexander Mercouris % Eventually, they are likely they may start harboring, aggressive intentions towards NATO and the US.

Some say World War III has already started, I suppose that's a matter of opinion. The Ukraine war is a proxy war, but different so far from Vietnam before it, where relatively quickly American troops were fighting and dying in that country.

If World War III has actually started, or if the Ukraine war leads to a world war, will America continue only to supply Ukraine with weapons, or will it send troops and/or "other military assets" to fight in Ukraine, Europe and/or Russia? In either case, might said conflict quickly, or eventually become a nuclear war with Russia?
Do we also need to also worry prepare for the possibility that Russian and/or other countries troops might invade our shores?
It's possible that if it's a nuclear war, and if foreign invaders arrive, we would already be a country in enormous disarray, and the karmic converse of America demanding unconditional surrender in the past could loom large. % Pray for peace!
There are many around the world, from at least two religions who think who believe there must be an apocalyptic end to all this before "their" savior returns to make things right, and that doesn't make the prospect for peace greater.

They say God can do anything and many also say, I think, that God cannot change his mind, but if he can do anything, might he also be able to change his mind? Or is it that they say that God doesn't change his mind?

What does the Russian orthodox church think about Bible prophecy because western churches I think, think the Russians are in trouble.

My eyebrows grow a different rates depending on the day and never know why this morning I'm going to Salt Creek with Tyler. I think I'll trim them. I should look decent for him too.

The ladies at the gas station she everybody coming, and they comment to each other even more than us fellas would

I'm trying to learn to do more and more things left-handed but when I do my eyebrows etc. with the beard trimmer, I still use my right hand it's just too close otherwise to my eyes
Guess I also ought to get an eyebrow comb because the regular one doesn't cut close enough
I never thought much about eyebrows until recently or maybe the last 1015 years since my wife started pointing out how bad mine looked
I also realize the importance of completely closing the eye of the brow you're working on just using the other one to see what you're doing

Here's another hack for keeping your balance - take your reading glasses off when you're walking or doing stairs
I flashed my display on the car because it wasn't working. My son told me how to do it. I think it's working now, but I'm not sure artificial intelligence hard at work on the radio Bad Moon Rising, CCR.
I switched to the radio 93.1 who I've just researched to discover who runs the place who owns it I think they're in DC or someplace and there are a different persuasion. I can tell immediately because they're discussing the Republican debate and making fun of the candidates. I think those are instruction from on high, even though they were probably very discreetly afforded.

Past couple years I've been hearing this term family offices, so these are the very rich folks hundred million or more in net worth apparently, and they usually hire experts to make them even filthy richer works well that way.

I do believe there are nefarious and malignant, maleficent powers, and principalities around us in the heavens, and in our own lives spirit and material world but I think we blame too many things on them not that they deserve anything but discredit, but so many things that are due to haste or ignorance on our part we just say the devil, or the devil made me do it
It all dovetails with us, giving away the farm and being submissive. When that's the last thing we should be just in brave, courageous and fair, is what we should be. Not these knuckleheads they're trying to vote us into being.
As I fold the T-shirts, I see one it says eat fish from stubby and another one. It says her wild wonderful mind now what if I went around wearing a T-shirt like that? What would people think?
Here's one for old peeps - if you sometimes struggle to remember things, don't advertise. It can be used against you in a court of law and you may be surprised by who.
I see him as a clown and clowns can be very dangerous

It shouldn't be surprising the way I feel religiously, because I am simply excepting with some questions, the religion of the ancestors and relatives from whom I'm descended, and who most closely raised me.

I sure hope mom and dad can see things like the babies but not the other things like well you know…

I try to move slow even when the babies are trying to rush us because I figure I'm better off late than never
Of course, it doesn't always work, between baby squeals leading to ladies shrill, or me trying to "get away with something"… like dumping pee down the toilet without getting caught usually averts my plan.
The flatbed went flying through the intersection, even faster than the cars and it made me think dang that's too fast who's making him do that his employer or himself is there a difference I don't know. Either way, if he hits you your dad
Rosarita refried beans look pretty good but interestingly they came out of the can like I remember Alpo did so many years ago I guess it's a coincidence

As I watch the candidates commercials this election cycle I am made ill in a funny way, and I think of Thomas Jefferson's "God forbid we go 20 years without such a rebellion and I think the time has come
I'm guessing that in the western world, every country is more or less controlled or heavily influenced by the occupation in the eastern world. I'd say Russia is influenced, but not controlled in. China certainly is not controlled Africa. I don't know South America I think they have gone the way of the west, they are largely influenced, if not controlled by the occupation.
Another important region is the Middle East, and I think they are influenced
In the west, particularly the United States. There is a very strong religious element to it with the average American if they think about it, believing that their eternal, salvation, heaven or hell depends on obedience to Rebbes who they don't even know exist, but who's marching orders come down a chain of command ultimately to them in other regions of the world that are not so religious. It is monetary control, blackmail and intrigue, but we are told this is all God's will I wonder about that…

I may have resigned myself to the "fact" that no one's satisfied with me-friends, family, clients, relatives, etc. and that bothers me a bit… bit does it bother me the, "right amount?" Maybe, maybe not cause it depends on who's, "judging." Should I do anything about it? Maybe, but the "complainants", aren't who I'm concerned about and yes, of course I'm speaking about the man upstairs… I'll try to do better for Him.

If I succeed, boats may be lifted .

So when somebody calls us this that or the other thing - sinner, hypocrite - whatever, should we care and if so how much and how much is the, "right amount?" Well that's a good question… Some will say they don't give a flying you know what - maybe they're right, maybe they're wrong. I guess it's an individual thing between us and our maker, if you don't believe in a maker, then perhaps between you and your conscience.

Personally, I'm not that concerned about what my friends and colleagues think - it's none of their effing and far as I can tell me they're doing no better than anyone else.
But being human, peeps it seems like causing a ruckus.

Far as my clients in my report, just trying to give them some pretty good information and a good story.

I don't believe in master races or chosen people, but think there are populations with higher average IQs, who mostly abuse that gift.

If karma has anything to do with it, we may have a serious deficit and be in trouble. If it doesn't then maybe we aren't - God help us anyway.

It looks like Natayahoo etc want to see wars with; Iran, Russia and China. I said see, because they may want to manage and direct said wars instead of fight them … "we control America"… Ariel Sharon?

I think Lions Mane might make us 5 to 10% sharper and since I'm sleep deprived, real or imagined
I'll take it.

I shored up her bath towel on the rack because it looked like it was about to fall on the wet floor. Minutes later, her hair towel fell, which isn't unusual either. We're all different. Other thing include rugs, which she puts so close to the doors that they get caught under it, and putting cups etc. right side up in the dish drainer or dishwasher - obviously water will not drain and they will collect bacteria… I doubt she'll ever change her way / like the rest of us .

There is so many ways in which we differ, but in which we generally put up with each other couple more to come to mind are leaving lights on. She thinks I'm the culprit I think she is and I can prove it. Another thing is our bedroom door it's split down the middle she likes it closed. I don't fit through half the door. These things have been going on for 30 years. We never talk about them , it would probably not work out, as she's built for the squabble yesterday she attempted one regarding a phone conversation with Sunny that went south east they used to go completely south. I told her that she should always talk to our kids like we would talk to any Adult who's not related to us. She took that as an opportunity to "discuss"/mention that if she can't talk to me about these things then there's a problem I let dogs lie at that point… her tongue is sharp, and her fuse is short, but I love her!

In the mail, there's a letter from the Indiana Department of revenue. That is never good news.

As far as learning from a quack, like Sylvia Brown, there's not a great deal you can learn, but you will learn things from her that no one else explores, or that are hard to find elsewhere
Nine months ago I put up a sign in my office and said this is the first day of the rest of my life without sugar. Well, I've screwed that badly 45 months ago I fell off the wagon, got run over and dragged 100 miles an hour I am actually ashamed of how poorly I have done in this respect it shouldn't have been that hard. It isn't addiction apparently why can't I beat it!
I sure hope cinnamon has the effect on blood sugar that the researchers in Sweden say it does

Dig North, east, West and South

The powers that be, via AI or whatever would like to have a system of knowing what we're thinking at all times. It would go in a database for their purposes - is that possible? Certainly God is doing that now. I hope man never does .
I don't know what the folks we go out to dinner with wish for me, but they push me to eat dessert because they know I like sweets but they know I shouldn't
This, despite all the hugging and kind words that goes on, and our exchange, but I shouldn't be so cynical
Not sure I'd like to be a fly on the wall anyway
Going to bury a time capsule and cross tomorrow I figure if these things are supposed to be found, they will be, but I'm gonna bury as many as I possibly can to improve my chances slim as they are Yesterday, Son mentioned, something related to that about somebody who was burying stuff for others to find yeah
He said the guy left the treasure map I think I might do that too or at least some clues
I have the house completely to myself this morning, so I can air dry in peace and privacy
I proceeded to the kitchen and cut the Lutine gummy's in half
They were sold at a steep discount, and I was fool enough to buy them, but I'm trying to mitigate the situation

Walking past the trashcan, I see a spaghetti squash seed on the rim. I think about picking it up we've got the compost going outside. Maybe I could plant it and have a squash but then I think trying to grow lions mane mushrooms is enough for me let somebody else give that a try.

I'm going to take the time this morning to bend the hinge pins on our armoire it's been closing on me for 30 years and my hit my funny bone 100 times
Of course, removing the pin, turned out harder than expected. I couldn't see it and there wasn't a hole for the nail as I had thought
But, alas, upon further inspection, maybe there is However, as is so often, the case I picked out the wrong tools, a skinny nail and a big hammer won't do it. I need a bigger, nail and a skinnier hammer.
I flatten the points on a large and small nail on the bench grinder and select a smaller hammer
I walked past the thermostat and turn it from 72 to 70. That's my job I could use AI but as of yet it's not smart enough the geniuses are trying their best to figure out how to control our house and our lives so far they've succeeded neither, but they are making tons of money, money and laughing all the way to the bank.
Regarding the hinge, all I've managed to do is scratch the armoire. Maybe I'll hang it up.
I bang on the whole hinge a few times, scratching the armoire, even worse and then try it out and it swings faster than ever making an even greater threat to my elbows. It’s been a great big fail.

Maybe I'll attack the hinge later for now I look for the furniture restore to try to erase the damage I've done to the wood finish. Of course, it's nowhere to be found
I'm going to name this morning's journaling when Friday seems like Monday
But one good thing came out of it. I enlarged the hole in the garage door and now can see through the people peephole
As I think about certain things, it's obvious that I've been declawed, but that's OK I can live with it. There are many areas of life in which I'll have to.
After all, I still have teeth
Use chicken wire to close that spot in the barn upstairs
The lawn pride commercial says a secret to happy lawn, and it shows them spraying the chemicals and then a customer saying now I'm I'm not embarrassed when people drive through our neighborhood why should we have to be so embarrassed that we spray toxic chemicals on our lawns, perhaps exposing ourselves in our neighbors to cancer?

Peeps, want to be saved and live forever. The truth be damned, few have read; Constantine, Rebbes, or the Essenes, Nag Hammadi or the dead sea scrolls. They just know what they're told on Sunday, which boils down to listen to us or burn forever. Sadly, from what I've seen, saving souls is like selling cars 😗

If there are amongst the biggest liars in the world, why would I automatically believe them? Our peeps are naïve - although we have a large number with high IQs, we also have an enormous number with average to low IQs, so we appear pretty good because of that large number with high IQ, but the average American is no genius and that's OK but they should have inquiring minds - I think.

If you Google, "the number of Christian denominations", the estimates range from about 30,000 up to 45,000. Some are almost identical, and some are not but what they almost all have in common is that if you don’t believe the Apostles Creed and/or the Nicene Creed, they say you’re in deep Doodoo. But how many Christians know the background of these or about; the Emperor Constantine’s Council of Nicaea , the Talmud, Essenes, Nag Hammadi Library, Dead Sea Scrolls etc?

Conspiracist / now that’s a word. I’ve probably never used before although I’ve seen it in writing. If there is a worldwide conspiracy I think it comes from the great beyond, in which case there might just be two aka good and bad or there could be more. Here on earth there are people who will stop at nothng to get their way and they are in different groups, competing against each other, sometimes in bed with each other, sometimes stabbing each other in the back these are the earthly lrun-of-the-mill types of conspiracies and they are also dangerous.

I find myself in bed next to a full grown woman a.k.a. Robin so anything can happen, but she’s sound asleep so it probably won’t. She’s like a cat - independent and wanting to snuggle sometimes and sometimes not. I think women are not quite as mysterious as I thought, they’re actually rather predictable in their unpredictability. I think our differences are more a matter of different priorities than anything else and different body parts?

It’s a war of attrition, so it’s going slowly. They are using all their conventional means of war but neither side has resulted resorted to nuclear weapons although reportedly Ukrainian drones are hitting the Zaporhizia nuclear plant. Is it just a matter of time before tactical nuclear weapons are used in this war? America didn’t want a war of attrition in order to secure Japan’s unconditional surrender, so we nuked them but they were Asians, we were not, (I doubt that Asians etc. have forgotten/forgiven these horrific events.) Now two nuclear armed white populations both citing existential threats from the other are facing each other… what will happen? God help us!

I believe in angelic and satanic forces because I believe there are powers and principalities in the universe vying for control. I also believe in God and think evolution is a distinct possibility and see few if any contradictions there. If you say that's wrong or that I must at the very least add, John 14:6…"I am the way and the truth and the life. No one comes to the Father except through me", I will agree with that, but I have questions that you still have no answers for other than to do what Constantine said… or else.

A cat will be somewhat loyal and trustworthy only if you're on its side, a dog isn't like that… that's too bad.

It seems to me that men and women have somewhat different priorities and different ways of achieving them. We shouldn’t demand that the other sex adapt our priorities or our ways of achieving things but it may help to understand how the other sex approaches things. However neither submission or subjugation is the answer.

If you say that is insincere patronizing, I would disagree. There is another side of the coin, which is one where women are more appreciated in many cases than men by their children, and it also can be said the God and or nature made things this way, and to some extent, maybe we should just make the best of it.

Universal suffrage is a fact, can't think of any other changes to the original and question extending it to those are on the dole. Would also support a loyalty test or oath not to subvert the constitution.. I would deport illegal immigrants on mass for those who have really pulled their weight and those unhealthier natives and otherwise would lose most of it Unelectable probably suicidal …
Just as I support anyone's right to legally apply for citizenship in the United States, if they support the original US Constitution with only one change - universal suffering for those not on the dole, and everyone who qualifies as per the above, would have to take an oath of allegiance to the aforementioned constitution, and if they work against it, they would lose their rights of citizenship. I also support anybody in the world's right to be a free citizen of the world with Karen, keyed human civil and property rights as long as they support peace and do not consider themselves above the law and superior to others. To me that means people who call and consider themselves a master race or a chosen people, to be in limbo at the very least… But that's OK because it's not what I think that matters.

Watched “The New Look”, about Christian Dior and Coco Chanel. The part about his sister Catherine, describing the death of her concentration camp co-captive Tonia at the hands of the Nazis, made me think it would be nice if the poor girl soul had left her body and not endured that beating and being thrown in the Oven alive. I wonder about the guys that did it and about the Vietnam war anti-war slogan, “What if someone gave a war and nobody came.” It makes me wonder if we are accountable and if their souls are in a bad place because they did the bidding of some very bad people. They may say they had no choice - I wonder if that’s true?

It’s pitch black almost as I get out of bed make my way to the bathroom and then start staggering towards the kitchen where dog sitting so scooter comes in huffing, puffing and shaking his collar,. Neither one of us is better or greater than the other, so operational words should be equality snd freedom from each other, if either so desires.

The YouTube man from China is talking about a Chinese man named Wong who has a theory that if there's a 30 point gap in IQs, the "higher" person sometimes can't explain themself to the "lower" because the latter's incapable of understanding. He references a Chinese mathematician living in the United States!, with an IQ of 230 it's having the world highest IQ. That's more than 100 points higher than me so I guess according to Wong, I would not be able to understand him sometimes. I wonder if that is the highest IQ in the world as the video states I think there are Einsteins out there etc. who may be equally high, and one thing in common may be their lack of connection with the rest of us and possibly lack of common sense. In any case high IQ is just one important measure of intellect meThinks . % many believe artificial intelligence will surpass it anyway, and when it's telling us what to do will we understand?

I've been informed that scooter is now more than 10 years old and it occurs that we're just now figuring out how to handle him. Sonny's known how for a long time because they live together but we, as occasional dog sitters have learned more slowly, things like change the behaviors we can and to some extent accept and adjust to those that we can't.

Then it's time for coffee - 1st cup of the day, it takes 10 minutes to percolate and I have to fill that time somehow, so I check on the mushrooms and turn on the TV, which takes a couple minutes to get to where I want to be. When the coffee is done. I feel the cup 2/3 of the way, then pour in some almond milk as a base and ripple on top. Ripple cost more than just about anything so I'm trying to use it sparingly/ which I don't .

I struggle to journal using voice recognition because it's still sucks after 25 years in my opinion it's a prime candidate for artificial intelligence. I hope they can improve it accuracy but just like keeping planes in the air safely, trains running on time and our water clean, our masters will prefer to use it to control our lives, in other ways, they will primarily want to know what we're willing to buy and how much we're willing to pay in order to enrich themselves even more… after all, we'‘re but cattle and cogs in their opinion.

For some reason, I'm thinking back on a little jingle I wrote after a loved ones prayer one Thanksgiving years ago (to the tune of "Short People")… something about - "non-Christians, non Christians, non Christians have no reason to be." That was the gist of it and it seems apropos in this year of increasing religious intolerance amongst what I consider the major world religious cults not to mention the numerous denominations within each.

I am told by the churches we attend that Jesus is the God of the universe even though there seems to be confusion for some about the Trinity, aka; father, son and Holy Ghost/spirit. Is this the same person/entity , or different people/entities sitting next to each other, etc. I still wonder who exactly Jesus is and or was But still ask him to be my mediator to the great beyond because he knows/knew more than I ever will, but I'm not convinced he knew it all. Who was his human father, if there was one and who is the Holy Spirit if that was his father. His mother(I wonder about her motives, how she brought him up and what she taught him to believe about herself, Himself etc. etc.), I believe she was Jewish, so according to their tradition that makes him Jewish although he didn't seem to get along very well with the Jewish establishment which eventually had him crucified and in the Talmud etc., "apparently"says things like grind his bones to powder, boil him in excrement etc., nor did he get along very well with the Romans, who crucified and pierced Him in the side they say, and then started church in his name… hmm - on and on it goes punctuated by murder and violence (Constantine, Crusades, etc.)
Meanwhile, back at the skunk works area 51 or wherever, we supposedly have aliens in custody or maybe they've died by now - who we communicated with telepathically to obtain mostly military expertise. Tucker Carlson and Joe Rogan discuss these things including maybe the alien PTB crashing these on purpose so that we could obtain some of their technology. It brings to mind the Bible's verses about powers and principalities in the heavens.

It makes me wonder if even if prophecy turns out the way our churches tell us it will, does that mean that the God of the universe, Multiverse etc. made it happen or wanted it to happen that way, or is it just supernatural forces and not divine ones still running the show and for how much longer might that be the case?

Why would you prepare a mansion for spirits? I guess they might enjoy whizzing around it, but it seems kind of strange. We've been presented with a Santa Claus for adults version of religion which we've bought hook line and sinker… for some it's because we don't want to contemplate going to hell which is what they've threatened us with if we don't accept their narrative. I'm not saying they're wrong. I'm saying there's counter evidence from near death experiences, etc. which might be considered as well. At the same time it probably might make sense that there be eternal separation from God for those who do the most horrible things.

If you're brash enough to opine something less than positive affirmative about certain religions or ideologies, there may be some in those movements who let it slide, some who criticize, some who encourage violence and some keen, hell bent, willing to carry it out. The last mentioned are the vilest but the encouragers who surreptitiously or otherwise excuse or lionize the executioners are equally guilty damn close. Despite the fancy, dapper clothes, polished shoes, shaved faces and colored hair, the message ultimately and the goal, is power and domination. But when you see these people after a hard night of partying, be it with alcohol or rich food, they appear very much like everyone else; 5 o'clock shadows, puppy puffy faces and bad breath.

God and nature have certainly made an entertaining show for themselves by creating us with free will foibles both good and bad… not to mention the lack of critically important information and our resulting frequent “miscalculations.”

I love these folks that I know, but many of them seem to act like, “good Germans” (a.k.a. mindless soldiers(, and others like, “ worker bees.

“Based on my understanding of the United States it always does three things at once; diplomacy, war as well as intelligence, and sometimes these three pillars reinforce each each other and override each other. Therefore, between China and the United States are between US and Russia regarding the war in Ukraine, as well as regard Gaza and Iran, don’t be surprised if the United States is very actively using these three different legs, military, and intelligence and the key is what’s the fundamental goal? What’s the game game of the United States is looking for For the war, Ukraine, I think with any decency in mind and ABC situation in geopolitics will urge Washington don’t expect too much because this may be a situation because the unraveling of many situations in the world to really move from peace to war and to regional war, and to total war and world war”… Gao Zhikai aka Victor Gao (Global Times YouTube channel, which is reportedly funded in whole or part by the Chinese government.)

It's one thing for your head to be up our ass. It's another to voluntarily leave it there… it may be subjective, not proof positive, but sometimes the evidence is overwhelming or nearly so… it's a free country, so we can leave it there, but let's try harder .

They're talking about the monarchy in Jordan. I'm not a big fan of monarchies anywhere but it's up to the people in those countries to decide if that's what they want. But, there are hidden hands and outside forces that get involved… fortunately we haven't had that problem for almost 250 years… God help us .

God forbid that we enter a period of nuclear war, who will start it fire the first shot? There are several countries five or six countries capable of it, and they mostly talk about using them only in the case of saving their existence, but that could mean preemptive strikes… it may be informative to remember that the two bombs dropped on Japan had nothing to do with saving our very existence … Heaven help us.

Me, thinks Mike Johnson, Mitch McConnell, and almost without exception all of our leaders, are boneheaded to authorize $95 billion in aid to Ukraine, Israel, and Taiwan, instead of focusing on our borders. GW and company and I don't mean GE Bush might be rolling graves. If the populist wing of the Republican party got their way methinks things would be no better, they are puppets not only of the occupation, but also of the religionists…and all these groups are beholden to the War Pigs. Watching the attack ad on TV for the Republican primaries next month or affirmation at least to me they are.

I'm curious about Alexander Mercouris's thoughts on biblical prophecy. As a self-described! Eastern Orthodox believer

Christian, he may believe is likely to believe that his eternal salvation depends on agreement with the Nicean creed, which would mean he has that in common with most? Americans. However, the American church usually? teaches that Russia goes down loses in the end. I doubt Alexander agrees with that, but he never to my knowledge has discussed this dilemma on his show.

Ironic that many of the defense industry workers especially in Russia are women, if we enter a major war, the same would probably be true in the US. On a related note we have outsourced much of our consumer and other goods manufacturing to China but if we need warn machines and materials to engage in a conflict with them over Taiwan, it's laughable to think they would supply them to us. The occupation used the strategy of vulture of capitalism, and unfriendly takeovers, to massively themselves to the point where they control America.

Moving to a different subject
"Chapter IX.—The Letter of the Synod, relative to its Decisions: and the Condemnation of Arius and those who agreed with him…
1.) The great and victorious Constantine Augustus to the bishops and laity:
Since Arius is an imitator of the wicked and the ungodly, it is only right that he should suffer the same dishonor as they. Porphyry, who was hostile to anyone who feared God, composed a book which transgressed against our religion, and has found a suitable reward: namely that he has been disgraced from that time onward, his reputation is completely terrible, and his ungodly writings have been destroyed. In the same way it seems appropriate that Arius and those of like mind with Arius should from now on be called Porphyrians, so that their name is taken from those whose ways they have imitated. (2.) In addition, if any writing composed by Arius should be found, it should be handed over to the flames, so that not only will the wickedness of his teaching be obliterated, but nothing will be left even to remind anyone of him. And I hereby make a public order, that if someone should be discovered to have hidden a writing composed by Arius, and not to have immediately brought it forward and destroyed it by fire, his penalty shall be death. As soon as he is discovered in this offense, he shall be submitted for capital punishment.

And in another hand:
God will watch over you, beloved brothers."
Furthermore, Paul Stevenson in his book Constantine Roman Emperor Christian Victor writes, "Those concealing books by Arius, like Porphyry before him, were to be executed if they did not immediately burn them." (Page 284.)

When I hear some of the senile things that Joe Biden has said, but people still want him for president maybe it's because they realize that strings are being pulled and they agree with the people pulling the strings. Well that's logical I guess.

When I think about women, I think they must find themselves in an almost impossible situation. Maybe that's why they do the things they do which are resulting honorable because of the situation and the responsibilities they have and they just wanna have fun too.
So for the millionth time, treat them with; fairness, love, respect and dignity, but don't submit to them… that's probably not the answer.

Not that I do a great job, but I'm trying

If you say that is insincere and patronizing, I would disagree. There is another side of the coin, which is one where women are more appreciated in many cases than men by their children, and it also can be said the God and our nature made things this way, and we all should just make the best of it.

It can also be sad said that we all struggle mightily, except maybe the rich who it's been said are more likely to struggle in the next life or at least in getting there (camels and needle eyes), but I suspect they have their struggles in this life too, just a different variety, but that shouldn't excuse them, or even allow justify them to live lives of power and privilege over others. Arguably women may have to do more things they don't want to, but men experience a great deal of that too.

I believe most strange inexplicable things, accidents, or events are due to coincidence, clumsiness, and related explanations, but I also think there's something else going on at times… there may be Powers and principalities affecting our lives from the unseen world if there is such a thing, which I believe is quite possible… I can use all the help I can get .

comes down, but if I say it’s foolishness, it’s just my word against theirs and they’ve probably have or have hired peeps with credentials and:or “advanced degrees.” I’ll go back to what Bob said the doctor says, “if it hurts when you do it, stop doing it. “

As I get ready for the zoom meeting, I am frustrated with this Japanese client. He has been a royal pain in the neck. I am not going to jump through any more hoops I say, but he does have me by the short hairs since there is nothing in the pipeline and I have a quote out WITHAM but it reminds me that these are the people who be headed American POW so I'm the one hand I like them because they're good customers and on the other hand I don't we did nuke them, which is something I feel bad about, but I can't let that affect me too much and also they are in Ally but like anybody else some of them are nice folks others are not and when they're not, it might be because of a boss breathing down there neck.

Although I have no problem with Universal suffrage, I would not defend the rights of certain people to vote because I think they have so egregiously abuse that privilege… (like other forms of oppression, pure democracy basically results in power coming from the barrel of a gun.)

Without being too specific, here's one example / certain demographic are for giving away the farm and for voting for bombing people because they think that makes them more secure. I would not “grant them”, the vote although individually, I would give it to those who I “trust” not to subvert the constitution but of course that's impossible. So I think under a system of universal suffrage, they would have to suffer losing the right to vote with the rest of their demographic - who imo may be/are traitors and fellow travelers - of course what I think doesn’t matter at all.

Since it's a free country (marginally),, I know they are entitled to think the same, want the same or worse for/of me. However, my demographic was never denied the vote in the first place.
They will say that's because I am in a privileged category and I would say that's because we are a responsible demographic, responsible for creating the US Constitution in the first place - although we do screw up quite a bit.
% maybe get your peeps to compromise, but I don’t see that
